

The International Political Economy of Transformation in Argentina, Brazil, and Chile since 1960

TL
15

Eul-Soo Pang
Colorado School of Mines
Golden, Colorado

palgrave
(2002) macmillan

Contents

List of Tables	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
Abbreviations	xi
Introduction	xv
Part I Latin America in a New Age	1
1 Latin America in the Age of Globalization	3
Globalization at work	3
The global economy	4
Latin America: then and now	7
The genesis of the Latin American state and IPE	8
A variety of authoritarian states and their offspring	10
Incompatibility of the B-A regime with the global economy	14
Core groups and actors in B-A regimes	15
Political economy of reform and adjustment	16
“Cosmopolitical” economy of Latin America	17
Latin America in the age of economic multipolarity	18
Part II From Populism to Military Rule and Democracy	21
2 Argentina: the Birth of Latin American Populism	23
The road to populism	23
The making of a populist Argentina	26
The early or sunrise phase: 1880–1930	27
The classical or golden phase: 1945–66	29
Argentina in the world economy	33
The final or sunset phase: 1976–89	35
3 Brazil: Building a Capitalism without Risk	45
The liberals of 1964	45
The state and the market	46
SOEs’ borrowing schemes	48

Allocation of and access to capital	50
“External savings and parallel dollars”	51
State-owned enterprises vs. foreign direct investment	54
National informatics policy	63
4 Chile: the Revolution That No One Desired	70
The end of the calm	70
The rise of Christian Democrats	73
Frei’s reforms	75
The presidential election of 1970	79
In retrospect	91
Part III Transition and Consolidation of Democracy and Market	93
5 Argentina’s Travails of Democracy and Market Economy	95
Populism’s last tango	95
Al-Mukhalis from La Rioja	96
The Cordobés from Harvard	106
Menem bets on a new horse	108
Argentina at a crossroads	118
6 “Brazil Is Not a Serious Country”	123
A new beginning	123
‘Collor’ed reform	125
Opposing camp	135
Sex, corruption, and globalization	136
Itamar the President Pifio	140
Cardoso, the Savior of Brazil	142
7 Chile: Pinochet’s Not Too Silent Revolution	146
Consolidating market authoritarianism	146
The junta’s long-term development policy	155
Resurgent democracy	165
Chile goes global	169
The second civilian government since 1990	170
The 1998 economic woes	173
The beginning of the end?	173
Conclusion: Will the Past Overtake the Future in Latin America?	177
Globalization versus sovereignty	177

Democracy or market, but not both	178
The supremacy of the state	179
SOE: an engine of growth or a breeder of corruption?	180
ISI: a double-edged sword?	181
Is democracy compatible with market?	182
Globalization: an elixir or a nadir?	183
Backlash to globalization	184
Contested globalization: state over market?	185
Notes	187
Bibliography	217
Index	241