RICH DEMOCRACIES

Political Economy, Public Policy, and Performance

HAROLD L. WILENSKY

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PRESS
Berkeley  Los Angeles  London
List of Figures xv
List of Tables xvii
Preface and Acknowledgments xxiii

Part I Paths of Development of Rich Democracies 1

1. CONVERGENCE THEORY 3
   Family Structure and Political Demands 5
      Female Labor-Force Participation Increased 6
      Fertility Rates and Household Size Declined and Divorce Rates Increased 7
   The Push for Equality among Minorities 14
      Ethnicity and Religion 16
      Blacks versus Others 18
      Why Variation in the Integration of Minorities? 21
      Gender Equality 28
      Age and Equality 31
   Summary 32

   The Rise of Mass Higher Education 33
   The Rise of the Media of Mass Communication and Entertainment 39
   The Increasing Number and Perhaps Influence of Experts and Intellectuals 40
   Social Stratification and Mobility 40
   Summary 50

   Hours, Schedules, and the Organization of Work 51
      Hours of Work 51
      Flexible Specialization? 52
      The Spread of Contingent Labor 57
      Is Modern Society "High-Tech"? 57
      Are the Rise in Unconventional Schedules and Unstable Careers American Peculiarities? 58
   Summary 60
7. TYPES OF POLITICAL ECONOMY, PARTY IDEOLOGY, AND FAMILY POLICY:

Contrasting Government Responses to a Common Problem

- Policies and Politics: Big Differences and Maybe a Little Convergence 263
- Comparing Sweden and the United States: Policy Contrasts 263
- The Politics of Family Policy: More Sharp Contrasts 268
- Concepts and Measures of Family Policy: Patterns among the 19 Countries 274
- Explaining the Similarities and Differences in Family Policy 278

Methods and Findings

- Catholicism, Leftism, Corporatism, and Working Women 280
- Demographic Pressures and Family Policy: Are the Young and Old at War? 281
- The Interaction of Types of Corporatism, Party Power, Women at Work, and the Aged: Consistent Patterns with a Belgian/French Exception 282
- Family Allowance and the Family-Policy Index 285
- Summary and Conclusion 286

8. THE AMERICAN WELFARE MESS IN COMPARATIVE PERSPECTIVE 291

- American “Welfare” Programs 292
- Myths and Facts about the American Welfare System 296
- Does Workfare Work? 311
  - Research Findings on Workfare 312
  - Barriers to Success: Policy Segmentation, Uncoordinated Programs, and Decentralized Federalism 316
  - Non-Takeup Rates 321
  - Reasons for High Non-Takeup Rates 325
- Technical Problems, Error Rates, and the Welfare Mess 327
- Explaining National Differences in Reliance on Means Tests 330
- Types of Political Economy, Teenage Pregnancy, and Abortion 332
- Summary and Conclusion 337

9. BUREAUCRATIC EFFICIENCY AND BLOAT 344

- Economies of Scale 344
- Explaining Convergence and Divergence in the Size of Bureaucracies 346
- Insights from the Cases of the United States, Canada, and Italy 354

Part III System Performance 361

10. TAX-WELFARE BACKLASH:

How to Tax, Spend, and Yet Keep Cool 363

- Concepts and Measures of Backlash 363
- Why Public Opinion Cannot Explain Backlash Successes 369
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contents</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Civilian Research and Development</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Education and Training</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Demographic Structure</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Military Spending</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bureaucratic Bloat</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are Lawyers a Drag on the Economy?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Is Inequality Harmful to Economic Growth?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summary</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>External Shocks Count Only at Extremes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Postscript: Are Property Taxes a Drag?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

13. THE GREAT AMERICAN JOB MACHINE
IN COMPARATIVE PERSPECTIVE 494

Rapid Job Creators versus Slow Job Creators 495
Demographic Forces 496
Social Structural Forces 498
Multiple Regression Results and the Question of Causation 501
A Desirable Political Economy 503

14. RISK AND SAFETY:
American Mayhem in Comparative Perspective 507

Trends in Violent Crime 508
Why Violent Crime in the United States, Especially Murder? 509
A Comparative Analysis of Mayhem 523
The Wilensky Mayhem Index 523
Theory and Hypotheses: What Causes Mayhem? 526
Trends in Mayhem 1970-88 528
Industrialization and Its Correlates 530
Types of Political Economy: Explaining National Differences in Mayhem 530

Bringing the Two Theories Together: Industrialization versus Types of Political Economy 534

15. TYPES OF POLITICAL ECONOMY, REGULATORY REGIMES, AND THE ENVIRONMENT 540

Air Pollution 541
Occupational Health and Safety 545
Disability and Sickness as Slippery and Expansive Categories: Is There a Tendency Toward Excess? 550
Nuclear Energy Development and Safety 558
The Regulation of Tobacco Use 565
Summary 573
16. HEALTH PERFORMANCE:
Affluence, Political Economy, and Public Policy as Sources of Real Health 577

Affluence versus Medical Care 579
The Organization and Delivery of Medical Care 582
   Centralization, State Control, and Global Budgeting 582
   An Index of Real Health 585
Doctor Density and Real Health 586
Ratio of Specialists to Primary-Care Physicians, Nurses, and Midwives 587
Preventive Care and Health Performance 593
   The Private/Public Mix and the Myth of the Market 595
The Medical-Industrial Complex of the United States 598
   Why Health-Care Reform in the United States Fails 606

Administrative Costs, Waste, and Corruption 611
   Administrative Costs and Waste 611
   Commerce and Corruption 613

Affluence, Spending, Types of Political Economy, and Health Performance:
   An Empirical Test 614
Mass Society, Poverty, Inequality, Insecurity, and Health Performance 620
Summary and Conclusion 627

17. GLOBALIZATION:

The Nation-State Is Alive and Well 637
Convergence Downward, Upward, or Just Persistent Differences? 644
Deregulation of the Labor Market? 644
Convergence in Immigration, Differences in Policies and Politics 647
The Role of Multinational Corporations 654
The Globalization of Finance: Are Strong Central Banks a Drag? 658
Summary and Interpretation 667

18. AMERICAN EXCEPTIONALISM
AND POLICY IMPLICATIONS 675

How Different Is the United States? 675
   Culture 675
   Structure 678

Policy and Politics 693
   The Idea of Policy Paralysis 693
   The Myth of Moderation and the Rightward Shift 693
   The Social Composition of a Center-Left Coalition 694
Policy Implications: A Center-Left Agenda 695
   A More Feasible Part of the Agenda 703