European Governance
After Nice

Edited by Koji Fukuda and Hiroya Akiba
Contents

List of figures viii
List of tables ix
List of contributors x
Preface xii
KOJI FUKUDA AND HIROYA AKIBA
Acknowledgments xiv
List of abbreviations xv

PART I
Reform of the European Union 1

1 The direction of the European constitution after the Nice Treaty 3
TAMIO NAKAMURA
A basic question 3
The limited agenda and outcomes of the Nice Treaty 4
The critical issue of ‘horizontal’ law-making and democracy 8
Towards mutual formation of democratic polity 14
Conclusion 16

2 Euro and exchange rate stability 19
HIROYA AKIBA
Introduction 19
Statistical facts 22
The model 24
Effects of asset substitutability 31
Policy implications 34
Conclusions 35
PART II
Issues of institutional reform

3 Institutional reform and European governance: political reflections on the Treaty of Nice
KOJI FUKUDA

Introduction 41
Institutional perspectives and European governance 42
The concept of governance and institutional reform of the EU 44
The purpose and background of EU institutional reforms 46
Institutional reform for enlargement through the Nice Treaty 48
Governance of the European Union after Nice 56
Transformation of European governance 59
Conclusion: how to strengthen the legitimacy of European governance 62

4 Drafting the Charter of Fundamental Rights: towards a new phase of EU democracy
NORIKO YASUE

Introduction 67
The history of the protection of fundamental rights in the EC/EU 68
The aims of the Charter 71
The drafting process of the Charter 72
The nature of the Charter of Fundamental Rights 76
Concluding remarks: towards a new phase of EU democracy 79

5 The Nice Treaty and the reformation of the EC judicial system: a contribution to the protection of rights of individuals in the Community?
TAKAO SUAMI

Introduction 82
The purpose of the Nice reform 82
Safeguards for the rights of individuals 83
Realizing speedy procedures 85
Access of individuals to justice 92
Conclusion 101
PART III
The Nice Treaty and Europe’s future 107

6 Emergence of a new sphere of social policy by the European Union: searching for innovative systems of social governance in the context of globalisation 109
TOMOKO HIKUMA

Introduction 109
A new sphere of social policy by the EU towards citizens of the EU? 111
A new sphere of social policy by the EU targeting the people outside of the EU? 122
EU social policy after 2000 125
New spheres of social policy and a challenge for social governance by the EU 129
Conclusions 131

7 Hopes and fears for EU membership: the case of Poland 133
TAKAYUKI ITO

Introduction 133
Euro-enthusiasts versus Euro-sceptics 137
Potential winners versus potential losers 141
The political elite 148
Conclusions 154

Appendix Presidency conclusions 158
Annexes to Presidency conclusions 173
Index 188