Contents

Preface vii

Introduction: Political Citizenship in Modern China 1
Merle Goldman and Elizabeth J. Perry

I Imperial and Republican China

1. Citizens or Mothers of Citizens? Gender and the Meaning of Modern Chinese Citizenship 23
Joan Judge

2. Citizens in the Audience and at the Podium 44
David Strand

3. Democratic Calisthenics: The Culture of Urban Associations in the New Republic 70
Bryna Goodman

4. Questioning the Modernity of the Model Settlement: Citizenship and Exclusion in Old Shanghai 110
Jeffrey N. Wasserstrom

5. From Paris to the Paris of the East—and Back: Workers as Citizens in Modern Shanghai 133
Elizabeth J. Perry

II The People’s Republic of China

Merle Goldman
7. Personality, Biography, and History: How Hu Jiwei Strayed from the Party Path on the Road to Good Citizenship
   Judy Polumbaum
   187

8. Villagers, Elections, and Citizenship
   Kevin J. O'Brien
   212

   Chih-yu Shih
   232

    Bruce Dickson
    255

11. Citizenship, Ideology, and the PRC Constitution
    Yu Xingzhong
    288

12. Law and the Gendered Citizen
    Margaret Y. K. Woo
    308

13. Constructing Citizenship: The NPC as Catalyst for Political Participation
    Michael William Dawdle
    330

III Taiwan

14. Nationalism versus Citizenship in the Republic of China on Taiwan
    Shelley Rigger
    353

Notes
375

Contributors
457