Women in the Leadership of Foreign Policy

Addressing the Challenges of Globalization in the Economic, Political, and Social Sectors

2002 • Aspen Institute Berlin • Berlin
Women in the Leadership of Foreign Policy: Addressing the Challenges of Globalization in the Economic, Political, and Social Sectors

Table of Contents

Marcus Schaper: Foreword vii

Robert M. Kokta: Conference Report 1

Flows of Information

Diana Owen: Global Dissemination of Information 7
Christine Ockrent: The Impact of Television 13
Karina Forster: The Power of Information 17

Flows of People

Melanne Verveer: The New Trafficking Challenge 19
Hanna Beate Schöpp-Schilling: Migration and Human Rights 23
Myonnie Bada: In Need of Help but not Helpless 27

Flows of Trade and Capital

Anne C. Richard: Moderator's Remarks 35
Virginia Haufler: Corporate Behavior and Corporate Responsibility 37
Valerie Ploumpis: Flows of Trade and Capital and Global Interdependence 41
Ilja-Kristin Seewald: Globalization from a Corporate Perspective 45

Flows of Security

Alyson Bailes: The Security Dimension 47
Esther Brimmer: Re-Defining Security 51
Riina Kionka: New Security Opportunities 55