Towards a Brave New Arms Industry?
Richard A. Bitzinger
Contents

5 Introduction

11 Chapter 1  The Rise and Fall of Second-Tier Arms Producers
  •  The ladder of production in second-tier defence industrialisation 16
  •  The not-so-invisible hand: the indispensable role of the state in defence industrialisation 23
  •  Reality sets in: the second-tier arms producers in the post-Cold War era 24
  •  Facing up to the learning curve 33

39 Chapter 2  Transition and Readjustment in Second-Tier Defence Industries: Five Case Studies
  •  Brazil: painful exit, successful niche producer 41
  •  South Africa: importing to preserve domestic arms industries 44
  •  South Korea: trying to grow out of its problems 49
  •  Sweden: globalising for survival 53
  •  Taiwan: dazed and confused 58

63 Chapter 3  Towards a Brave New Arms Industry?
  •  Patterns of readjustment 63
  •  The emerging 'hub-and-spoke' of global arms production 69

81 Conclusion  Implications and Challenges Ahead

87 Notes