Towards Security Sector Reform in Post Cold War Europe

A Framework for Assessment

Nomos Verlagsgesellschaft
Baden-Baden
Contents

Preface
Ambassador Theodor Winkler 7

Introduction
Wilhelm N. Germann and Timothy Edmunds 9

Chapter 1  Security sector reform: concepts and implementation
Timothy Edmunds 15

Chapter 2  Security sector reform in the Euro-Atlantic Area: Choice or imperative?
Wilhelm N. Germann 31

Chapter 3  September 11: New challenges and problems for democratic oversight
Nicholas Williams 53

Chapter 4  Why engage in security sector reform abroad? International norms, external democratisation and the role of DCAF
Gerhard Kümmel 67

Part II: Security sector reform: Norms and requirements

Chapter 5  Principles and prerequisites of the democratic control of armed forces: Best practices in established democracies
Dietrich Genschel 101

Chapter 6  International standards and obligations: Norms and criteria for democratic control in EU, OSCE and GECD areas
Owen Greene 117
Chapter 7  The normative contribution of the OSCE to the democratic control of armed forces: The added-value of the 1994 code of conduct on politico-military aspects of security
Victor-Yves Ghébali 133

Chapter 8  Security sector reform and NATO enlargement: Success through standardisation of standards?
Willem Matser and Christopher Donnelly 145

Chapter 9  International norms and criteria on democratic control of armed forces: A reference tool
Lea Biason 155

PART III  Security sector reform: The need for assessment and evaluation

Chapter 10  Assessing success and failure: Practical needs and theoretical answers
Wilfried von Bredow and Wilhelm N. Germann 175

Chapter 11  Measuring success in security sector reform: A proposal to improve the toolbox and establish criteria
Zoltán Martinusz 189

Conclusions: The future direction of efforts
Wilhelm N. Germann 199

About the authors 203