Mapping the Fiction of Cristina Fernández Cubas

Edited by
Kathleen M. Glenn and Janet Pérez

Newark: University of Delaware Press
Contents

Acknowledgment 7

Introduction: Of Kitchens and Attics, Journeys and Quests
  KATHLEEN M. GLENN AND JANET PÉREZ 11

Effects of the Double in Cristina Fernández Cubas’s Short Fiction
  ANA RUEDA 25

Reading the Sign of Spain: Negotiating Nationality, Language, and Gender
  MARYELLEN BIEDER 41

Being Other in Another’s Place: Uncanny Adventures in Con Agatha en Estambul
  NANCY VOSBURG 66

The Arab/Islamic Other in the Fiction of Cristina Fernández Cubas
  ELIZABETH SCARLETT 82

Repetition, Remembrance, and the Construction of Subjectivity in the Works of Cristina Fernández Cubas
  AKIKO TSUCHIYA 99

El año de Gratia and the Displacement of the Word
  CATHERINE G. BELLVER 118

The Seen, the Unseen, and the Obscene in Fernández Cubas’s Fiction
  JANET PÉREZ 130

Looking for Mom in All the Wrong Places: The Mother-Daughter Bond and the Evolution of Identity in El columpio
  SILVIA BERMÚDEZ 151

The Metafictional Metaphor in El columpio
  JOHN B. MARGENOT III 167

Hermanas de sangre: From Published Play to Made-for-Television Movie
  PHYLLIS ZATLIN 184
Narrating the Self and the Contingencies of Memory in "Cosas que ya no existen"

DAVID K. HERZBERGER

Bibliography
Contributors
Index