Contents

List of Figures vii
List of Tables ix
Contributors xiii

1. Introduction: Opposing Europe? The Politics of Euroscepticism in Europe
   Paul Taggart and Aleks Szczepanak
   1

2. The Limits of Party-Based Euroscepticism in Germany
   Charles Lees
   16

   Gérard Grunberg
   38

4. Euroscepticism in Italy
   Lucia Quaglia
   58

5. Hard but Hardly Relevant: Party-Based Euroscepticism in Belgium
   Kris Deschouwer and Martine Van Assche
   75

   David Baker, Andrew Gamble, Nick Randall, and David Seawright
   93

7. Shades of Green: Euroscepticism in Irish Political Parties
   Karin Gilland
   117

8. Euroscepticism and Political Parties in Spain
   Marga Gómez-Reino, Iván Llamazares, and Luis Ramiro
   134

9. Euroscepticism in Denmark
   Ann-Christina Lauring Knudsen
   152

    Tapio Raunio
    168

    Nicholas Aylott
    181

12. Euroscepticism in Austrian Political Parties: Ideologically Rooted or Strategically Motivated?
    Franz Fallend
    201
13. Opposing Europe or Problematizing Europe? Euroscepticism and ‘Eurorealism’ in the Polish Party System
   Aleks Szczerbiak
   221

14. Embracing Europe, Opposing EU-rope? Party-based Euroscepticism in the Czech Republic
   Sean Hanley
   243

15. Euroscepticism in the Hungarian Party System: Voices from the Wilderness?
   Agnes Batory
   263

16. The Slovak Republic: Eurosceptics and Phoney Europhiles
   Karen Henderson
   277

17. Emerging Party-based Euroscepticism in Estonia
   Evald Mikkel and Andres Kasekamp
   295

18. Euroscepticism and Slovenian Political Parties: A Case of Weak Party-based Euroscepticism
   Alenka Krašovec and Simona Kustec Lipicer
   314

19. The European Question and the Norwegian Party System since 1961: The Freezing of a Modern Cleavage or Contingent Opposition?
   Nick Sitter
   328

20. Conclusion: Opposing Europe? Three Patterns of Party Competition over Europe
   Paul Taggart and Aleks Szczerbiak
   348

References
364

Index
395