FORCED MIGRATION
AND THE CONTEMPORARY WORLD
CHALLENGES TO THE INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM

Edited by
Andrzej Bolesta

Białystok 2003
Contents

List of Contributors ................................................................. 7
Note from the Editor ............................................................... 11
Preface ................................................................................... 13

PART I: THE INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM: TIME FOR REFORMS? 15

1. The UN Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees:
The Case For and Against Reform
   Jan Penrose ........................................................................... 17

2. UNHCR and Accountability:
The Non-Reviewability of UNHCR Decisions
   Hoi Trinh ............................................................................. 35

3. No Right to Be Successful?
   Refugees, Article 1F, and the Intersection of Law, Politics and Ethics
   Jaremey McMullin ............................................................... 59

4. The United Nations and Internally Displaced Persons:
   At the Crossroads of Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs
   Naoko Hashimoto .............................................................. 78

PART II: REFUGEE PROTECTION: HUMAN RIGHTS vs. POLITICS 117

5. Practicable Ideals? A Proposal for Revitalizing the Rights of Forced Migrants in Islam
   Saeher A.F. Muzaffar .......................................................... 119

6. The Social Contract and Refugee Protection:
   A Comparative Study of Turkey and Germany in the 1990s
   David McKeever ............................................................... 146
7. Socio-legal Conditions of Palestinian Refugees in Jordan, Syria and Lebanon
   Andrzej Bolesta .................................................................................. 172

PART III: REFUGEE CRISES: SEEKING DURABLE SOLUTIONS .... 185

8. Refugees and Durable Solutions: The Case of Mozambique and Kosovo
   Mulenga Nkula .................................................................................. 187

9. Repatriation and Reintegration in Afghanistan:
   The Role of Demilitarisation
   Edward R. McCleskey ....................................................................... 207

10. International Agencies and the Protection of Displaced Persons in East Timor: A Success Story?
    Yutaka Tatewaki ............................................................................... 221

PART IV: ASYLUM AND IMMIGRATION:
         TOWARDS POLICY OF CONTAINMENT? ................................. 237

11. Asylum, Immigration and Statehood: A Philosophical Perspective
    Matthias Oschinski ........................................................................ 239

12. U.S. Immigration Detention Policy:
    Seeking an Alternative to the Current System
    Sarah Cross ....................................................................................... 255