TERROR AND VIOLENCE

Imagination and the Unimaginable

Edited by

ANDREW STRATHERN, PAMELA J. STEWART
AND NEIL L. WHITEHEAD

Pluto Press
LONDON • ANN ARBOR, MI
CONTENTS

List of Figures vi
Acknowledgements viii

Introduction: Terror, the Imagination, and Cosmology 1
Andrew Strathern and Pamela J. Stewart

1 'Terror against Terror': 9/11 or 'Kano War' in the Nigerian Electronic Press? 40
Misty L. Bastian

2 Unspeakable Crimes: Athenian Greek Perceptions of Local and International Terrorism 61
Elisabeth Kirtsoglou

3 The Indian State, its Sikh Citizens, and Terror 89
Joyce Pettigrew

4 Between Victims and Assailants, Victims and Friends:
Sociality and the Imagination in Indo-Fijian Narratives of Rural Violence during the May 2000 Fiji Coup 117
Susanna Trnka

5 Narratives of Violence and Perils of Peace-Making in North–South Cross-Border Contexts, Ireland 142
Andrew Strathern and Pamela J. Stewart

6 The Sign of Kanaimà, the Space of Guayana, and the Demonology of Development 171
Neil L. Whitehead

7 Imaginary Violence and the Terrible Mother:
The Imagery of Balinese Witchcraft 192
Michele Stephen

Afterword: The Taste of Death 231
Neil L. Whitehead

Notes on Contributors 239
Index 241