THE POLITICAL AND MORAL IMPERATIVES OF THE BANDUNG CONFERENCE OF 1955

THE REACTIONS OF THE US, UK AND JAPAN

by

KWEKU AMPIAH

The University of Leeds

GLOBAL ORIENTAL
Contents

Preface ix
Acknowledgements xi
List of Abbreviations xii

Introduction
Unbridling a Third World
The Road to Bandung

1 Neutralism as a Political Force in Asia in the Mid-1950s 15
The Resurgence of Neutralism and the Politics of Non-Alignment 22
The Exploits of the Neutralists 27
The Bandung Conference and its Antecedents 29
Negotiating about Prospective Participants 31
The Phantom of Bandung 35
Divisions within a United Front 39
Neutralism and Japan's Reticent Foreign Policy 45
The Socialists and Japanese Foreign policy 47
Conclusion 51

2 US Attitudes Towards the Conference: From Revulsion, to 'Benevolent Indifference', and Reluctant Acceptance 63
Pre-Conference Angst 64
Initial Reactions to the Impending Conference 65
The Quest for a Reliable Person to Represent Western Interests 69
The U-turn 74
The State Department's Damage Limitation Strategies 82
The Conference and its Surprises: Zhou Enlai's Diplomatic Initiatives 84
The Japanese Participation in the Conference: An American Dilemma 88
Japan and the US: Conferring about the Conference 90
Pre-Conference Consultations between the US Embassy (Tokyo) and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs 94
The Japanese Leadership Question and Reactions to US Interventions 97
America's Response to the Japanese Performance at the Conference 101
The American Assessment of the Outcome of the Conference 102
Conclusion 107

3 Britain and Bandung: Whitehall’s Prognosis 118
The Implications of the Bandung Conference for Whitehall 120
The Problem of the Attendance of the African Countries 127
The Gold Coast, Nkrumah and the Bandung Conference 129
The Other African Countries at the Conference 137
British Reactions to Japan’s Involvement in the Conference 138
British Concerns about the Formosa Affair within the Context of Bandung 141
British Views about the Implications of Bandung for the UN 146
An Assessment of Parkes’s Report about the Conference 149
Anxieties about the Economic Initiatives of the Afro-Asian Countries 153
Conclusion 157

4 Japan’s Journey back to Asia and the New Foreign Policy of Independence 166
Japan After the Second World War 166
The Dilemma of Japanese Foreign Policy in the Early Post-war Era 169
Japan’s Policy Options towards the Conference 171
Issues and Concerns about the Conference 172
Preparations for the Conference 174
The Policymaking Process within the Ministry of Foreign Affairs 178
The Composition of the Japanese Delegation 181
Diet Discussions of the Membership of the Japanese Delegation 184
The Takasaki-Zhou Meeting at Bandung 186
Post-Conference Parliamentary Debates: An In-house Assessment of Japan’s Performance at the Conference 188
Takasaki’s Reports 190
Conclusion 195

5 Conclusion 203
Bandung’s Legacy: The Struggle Against Marginalization 205
The Political Imperatives of the Conference 207
The New Discourse of Peace and Security 209
The Economic Imperatives of the Conference 212
Japan’s Role in Post-war Asia 212
The Non-aligned Movement 214