The Costs and Benefits of European Immigration

Rainer Münz, Thomas Straubhaar, Florin Vadean, Nadia Vadean

This paper was commissioned for the “Gaining from Migration” project co-ordinated by the OECD Development Centre, in co-operation with the OECD Directorate for Employment, Labour and Social Affairs (DELSA), the European Commission, and the Athens Migration Policy Initiative (AMPI), with financial support from the European Union. An earlier version of this paper was presented at an Experts’ Workshop on January 10, 2006 in Paris and is copyright OECD. The views expressed herein can in no way be taken to reflect the official opinion of the European Union, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, AMPI, or Erste Bank. Valuable comments, proofreading and editorial support by Elzbieta Linke and Justin Russo is noted with appreciation.
