Contents

List of figures xi
List of tables xii
Foreword by Martha Crenshaw xiii
Preface: “The years that try a man’s soul”: a personal narrative xiv
Acknowledgments xx

1 Introduction 1
2 Theories of the origins of movements 11
3 Selfish altruist: modeling the mind of a terrorist 32
4 The dynamics of dissent: a theoretical perspective 64
5 Faith, nationalism, and class warfare: the birth of a movement 102
6 Growth of a movement: accounting for rapid escalation of violence 123
7 A marriage made in hell? Terrorism and organized crime 146
8 Demise of dissent: the endgame of terrorism 161
9 Terrorism’s trap: a winnable war? 181

Appendix A: trade-off between interests of the individual and the collective: an expanded assumption of rationality 207
Appendix B: terrorism and organized crime: a formal model 211
Notes 215
Bibliography 242
Index 274