Constitutionalism and Political Reconstruction

Edited by
Saïd Amir Arjomand

BRILL
LEIDEN • BOSTON
2007
CONTENTS

Preface ......................................................................................................................... ix

INTRODUCTION

Chapter One  Constitutional Development and Political Reconstruction from Nation-building to New Constitutionalism ................................................................. 3
  Saïd Amir Arjomand

PART I
NATION-BUILDING, MODERNIZATION AND POST-COLONIAL RECONSTRUCTION

Chapter Two  Regimes Reinventing Themselves: Constitutional Development in the Arab World ................................................................. 47
  Nathan Brown

Chapter Three  Constitutions and Political Reconstruction? Israel’s Quest for a Constitution ................................................................. 69
  Ruth Gavison

Chapter Four  A Globalizing Constitutionalism? Views from the Postcolony, 1945–2000 ................................................................. 89
  Julian Go

Chapter Five  The Rule of Law and Politics of Reform in Post-Revolutionary Iran ................................................................. 115
  Keyvan Tabari

Chapter Six  Post-Colonial Collages: Distributions of Power and Constitutional Models, with Special Reference to South Africa ................................................................. 139
  Heinz Klug
Chapter Seven Constitutional Engineering and Impact: the Case of Fiji ................................................................. 159
Jill Cottrell and Yash Ghai

PART II

CONSTITUTIONAL RECONSTRUCTION SINCE THE FALL OF COMMUNISM

Chapter Eight Parliament and the Political Class in the Constitutional Reconstruction of Poland: Two Constitutions in One ..................................................... 195
Jacek Kurczewski

Chapter Nine Constitutionalism and the Presidency in the Russian Federation .................................................. 217
Anders Fogelklou

Chapter Ten Institutional Innovations and Moral Foundations of Constitutionalism in East Central Europe: Coping with the Past Human Rights Violations ............ 237
Grażyna Skąpska

Chapter Eleven The Constitution in the Process of Denationalization .............................................................. 261
Dieter Grimm

PART III

CONSTITUTIONAL COURTS AND THE NEW CONSTITUTIONALISM

Chapter Twelve The Role of Constitutional Courts in the Transition to Democracy, with Special Reference to Hungary ................................................................. 285
László Sólyom

Chapter Thirteen Constitutional Negotiations: Political Contexts of Judicial Activism in Post-Soviet Europe ........ 315
Kim Lane Scheppele
Chapter Fourteen  Women and the Cost of Transition to Democratic Constitutionalism in Spain ............................ 337
   Ruth Rubio-Marín

Chapter Fifteen  Dissolution of Political Parties by the Constitutional Court in Turkey: Judicial Delimitation of the Political Domain ......................................................... 357
   Dicle Kogacioglu

List of Contributors .................................................. 379

Index ............................................................................. 383