Contents

Preface ix

PART ONE Introduction 1

1. Introduction: Personnel Management in Government Agencies and Nonprofit Organizations 1
   Productivity 3
   Government Setting 4
   Nonprofit Setting 5
   Personnel Specialists 5
   Plan of the Book 9
   Case Study 11

PART TWO Public Policies for Personnel Management in Government Agencies and Nonprofit Organizations 14

2. The Development of the Merit System 14
   George Washington and his Men of Character 15
   Andrew Jackson and Spoils 17
   The Merit System and Machine Politics 19
   Merit and the Constitution 21
   Scientific Management and Efficient Government 23
   The New Deal and Public Management 24
   Specialization and Professionalism 25
   Re-Thinking Merit 26
   Contracting: The New Patronage? 27

3. Ethics, Rights, and Responsibilities 32
   Political Neutrality: Government Employees 33
   Free Speech 37
   Restrictions on Nonprofit Organizations 40
   Religion 40
   Whistleblowing 41
   Codes of Ethics for Public and Nonprofit Employees 43
   Rights to Privacy 47
   Drug Testing 48
   Privacy and New Technologies 48
   Liability of New Government Employees 49
   Case Study 51
4. Diversity 55
   The Concept of Representative Bureaucracy 56
   Who Is Represented 58
   Measures of Diversity 60
   The Record 61
   The Legal Mandates 65
   Diversity Planning 71

5. Productivity 80
   Job Design 82
   Ability 83
   Effort 83
   Working Conditions 90
   Evaluation 92

6. Organization for Personnel Management 98
   Organization Theory 98
   History of Personnel Organization in Government 100
   Technical Core Structures of Personnel Management 101
   Agency Linkages 103
   Management in a Central Personnel Office 106
   Institutional Relations 107

PART THREE Organizational Needs 116

7. Succession Planning 116
   Incrementalism and Personnel Management 117
   Use of Human Resource Planning 118
   Approaches Toward Succession Planning 120
   A Model for Succession Planning 121

8. Position Analysis and Job Evaluation 139
   Approaches to Position Analysis 141
   Conducting a Functional Job Analysis 142
   Position Description 145
   Position Classification 147
   Maintaining a Classification System 150
   Alternatives to Position Classification 151
   Job Evaluation 153
   Position Analysis Exercise 157

9. Performance Evaluation 165
   The Use of Performance Evaluations 165
   Problems of Measurement 169
   Types of Performance Evaluation 170
10. Selecting Employees  184

The Selection Process: An Overview  185
Recruitment  188
Job Announcements  190
Application Forms  192
Minimum Qualifications  196
Examinations  198
Types of Examinations  200
Examination Validity and Reliability  204
Determining Passing Scores  207
Veterans’ Preference Points  208
Certification  209
Interviews and Selection  212
Probationary Period  214
Job Announcement Exercise  216

PART FOUR  Employee Needs  221

11. Employee Training and Development  221

Systematic Approach to Training  222
Volunteers  228
Career Development  228
Career Planning Exercise  235

12. Health and Safety  240

Violence  241
Safety  246
Personal Care  248
Family Care  250
Case Study  252

13. Discipline and Dismissal  257

Historical Developments  258
Types of Job Security  259
Why Fire Employees?  260
Disciplinary Processes  264
Standards for Disciplinary Action  271
Sexual Harassment  272
Retaliation  273
Appeal of Employee Dismissal Exercise  274
14. Compensation 279
   The Principles of Compensation 280
   Forms of Compensation 284
   Setting Levels of Compensation 293
   Cutting Pay 297
   Conducting a Pay Survey Exercise 298

15. Collective Bargaining 305
   Organizational Conflict and Collective Bargaining 305
   The Emergence of Public Sector Bargaining 307
   Unions and Nonprofit Organizations 310
   Collective-Bargaining Structures 310
   Scope of Bargaining 313
   Bargaining Process 317
   Impasse Resolution 322
   Implementing Contract Provisions 324
   Grievance and Arbitration 326
   The Impacts of Collective Bargaining 328
   Collective Bargaining Exercise 332

PART FIVE Conclusion 345

16. Summary and Conclusions 345
   The Contemporary Vision of Personnel Management in Government
   Agencies and Nonprofit Organizations 346

Appendix: General Sources in Personnel Management 348

Index 349