Does Truth Matter?
Democracy and Public Space

Edited by

RAF GEENENS
Catholic University of Leuven, Belgium

and

RONALD TINNEVELT
Radboud University Nijmegen, The Netherlands

Springer
Contents

1 Truth and Public Space: Setting Out Some Signposts ......................... 1
   Raf Geenens and Ronald Tinnevelt

Part I The Epistemic Value of Democracy

2 Epistemic Proceduralism and Democratic Authority ......................... 15
   David Estlund

3 Truth and Democracy: Pragmatism and the Deliberative Virtues ........ 29
   Cheryl Misak

4 Folk Epistemology and the Justification of Democracy ..................... 41
   Robert B. Talisse

5 Truth and Power in Modern Politics ............................................ 55
   Philippe Raynaud

Part II Institutionalizing Democracy

6 Truth and Trust in Democratic Epistemology ................................ 69
   Matthew Festenstein

7 The People Versus the Truth: Democratic Illusions ....................... 81
   Glen Newey

Part III The Physical Spaces of Democracy

8 Does Democracy Require Physical Public Space? ............................ 101
   John R. Parkinson
9 Cities as Spaces of Democracy: Complexity, Scale, and Governance .................................................. 115
Murray Low

10 Semi-public Spaces: The Spatial Logic of Institutions ........................................... 133
Bart Verschaffel

Part IV Transnational Democracy

11 Democratization Through Transnational Publics: Deliberative Inclusion Across Borders ........................................... 149
James Bohman

12 Conceptualizing the Power of Transnational Agents: Pragmatism and International Public Spheres ........................................... 167
Molly Cochran

Author Index ................................................................. 187

Subject Index ............................................................... 191