Contents

List of Figures and Tables
Notes on Contributors
Preface
Benoît Rihoux, Paul Lucardie and E. Gene Frankland

PART 1: INTRODUCTION

1. From Amateur-Activist to Professional-Electoral Parties? On the Organizational Transformation of Green Parties in Western Democracies
Paul Lucardie and Benoît Rihoux

PART 2: GREEN PARTIES WITH NATIONAL GOVERNMENTAL EXPERIENCE

2. The Evolution of the Greens in Germany: From Amateurism to Professionalism
E. Gene Frankland

Bruno Villalba

4. The Finnish Greens: From ‘Alternative’ Grass-roots Movement(s) to Governmental Party
Jukka Paastela

5. Belgium: Ecolo and Agalev (Groen!): Two Institutionalized Green Parties with Parallel but Different Stories
Jo Buelens and Pascal Delwit

6. The Irish Greens
George Taylor and Brendan Flynn
PART 3: GREEN PARTIES WITH NATIONAL PARLIAMENTARY RELEVANCE

7 Switzerland: the Green Party, Alternative and Liberal Greens
Andreas Ladner and Michael Brändle 109

8 Struggling to Become Competitive: The Organizational Evolution of the Austrian Greens
Volkmar Lauber 129

9 Sweden: Miljöpartiet de Gröna
Jon Burchell 143

10 Amateurs and Professional Activists: De Groenen and GroenLinks in the Netherlands
Paul Lucardie and Gerrit Voerman 157

PART 4: GREEN PARTIES WITH LITTLE OR NO NATIONAL PARLIAMENTARY PRESENCE

11 Experimental Evolution Down Under: Thirty Years of Green Party Development in Australia and New Zealand
Christine Dann 177

12 Green Party Organization in Britain: Change and Continuity
Wolfgang Rüdig 199

13 The Canadian Greens: Veering Away from Grass-roots Democracy So Soon?
Jacqueline Sharp and Anita Krajnc 225

14 Greens in the USA
John C. Berg 245

PART 5: CONCLUSION

15 Conclusion: The Metamorphosis of Amateur-Activist Newborns into Professional-Activist Centaurs
Benoît Rihoux and E. Gene Frankland 259

Index 289