WAGING WAR, MAKING PEACE
Reparations and Human Rights

Based on a Report from the American Anthropological Association, Committee for Human Rights, Reparations Task Force

Edited by
Barbara Rose Johnston
Susan Slyomovics

Walnut Creek, CA
CONTENTS

Preface: Anthropology’s Engagement 7
   Susan Slyomovics

1. Waging War, Making Peace: The Anthropology of Reparations 11
   Barbara Rose Johnston

2. The Ethical Dimensions of Peace 31
   Gretchen E. Schafft

3. When Governments Fail: Reparation, Solidarity, and Community in Nicaragua 57
   James Phillips

4. From Theory to Practice: Implementing Reparations in Post–Truth Commission Peru 75
   Lisa J. Laplante

5. Reparations in Morocco: The Symbolic Dirham 95
   Susan Slyomovics

   Maria-Pia Di Bella

7. “We All Must Have the Same Treatment”: Calculating the Damages of Human Rights Abuses for the People of Diego Garcia 133
   David Vine, Philip Harvey, and S. Wojciech Sokolowski

   Liza Grandia

9. Reparations and the Illusive Meaning of Justice in Guatemala 183
   Kathleen Dill
10. Of Lemons and Laws: Property and the (Trans)national Order in Cyprus
    Rebecca Bryant

    Dan Rabinowitz

12. Reparations and Human Rights: Why the Anthropological Approach Matters
    Alison Dundes Renteln

Index

About the Contributors