The State in Contemporary Islamic Thought

A Historical Survey of the Major Muslim Political Thinkers of the Modern Era

By Abdelilah Belkeziz

Translated for the Centre for Arab Unity Studies by Abdullah Richard Lux

I.B.Tauris Publishers
In Association With
The Centre for Arab Unity Studies
Contents

Preface to the English Language Edition ix

Preface xix

PART ONE: From the Nation State to the State of the Khilāfah

1 The State of the ‘Tanzīmāt’ or the State of Reason and al-Šar’ (Islamic Law) 3
   The State and Reform
   The Context of the Nation State in the Islamic Reformist Consciousness
   Heralding the State
   What is the Position of al-Šar’ (Islamic Law)?

2 For the Sake of the Nation State: A Criticism of Political and Religious Autocracy 27
   Introduction
   The Last Cry of Reform
   On the Criticism of Autocracy
      – On the Criticism of Religious Justifications for Autocracy
      – On Autocracy, the Destroyer of Civilization

3 The Conditional State: The Constitutional Question in Modern Shi‘ite Political Fiqh 47
   Introduction
   Al-Imāmah (the imamate) and Authority in the ‘Age of Occultation’
From 'Permission' for Illegitimate Political Authority to Theorizing Legitimate Political Authority
- On Legitimate Political Authority: From 'Infallibility' (al-'ismah) to the Constitution
- 'Constitutional Fiqh'

4 From the Nation State to the State of the Khilāfah: Renewal of 'Islamic Legal Politics'
Introduction
On the Causes of the Return to the Idea of the Khilāfah
- On the Islamic Legal Causes
- On the Political Causes
On the Renewal of 'Islamic Legal Politics'
- On the Meaning of the Khilāfah
- On the Concept of Ahl al-Ḥal wa al-'Aqd
The Khilāfah of Necessity, the Necessity of the Khilāfah

5 On the Theoretical Criticism of the Khilāfah
The Blessed Khilāfah: Theoretical Tragedy and Political Impediment
A Khilāfah Without an Islamic Legal Origin: The Thesis of 'Abd al-Rāziq
- The Absolute Sultanate or 'Sublimity in Politics' (al-Ta'ālī bi-l-Siyāsah)
- The Khilāfah in the Measure of Islamic Law
- Brute Force is the Basis of the Khilāfah
- Government in Islam is Political
Criticism of the Khilāfah...from Afar

PART TWO: From the Islamic State to the Religious State

6 On the 'Islamic State' – Religious and Political Aspects
The Birth of the Problematic of the 'Islamic State'
- On the Need for a State
- The Islamic State and the Religious State
The Islamic State in the Discourse of Hasan al-Bannā:
- Divergences in Understanding
- The State and the Constitution
- The Multiplicity of Political Parties or the Specter of Civic Strife (al-Fitnah)

7 The State and al-Sharī'ah in the Criticism of the Secular Idea
The Sharī'ah of the State
A Debate Against the Secular Idea
Contents

On the Subject of 'Implementation of the Sharī'ah'
- Sharī'ah and *Ijtihād
- The Rulings of the Sharī'ah: Descent and Gradual Implementation

8  Al-Shūrā and Democracy – Connection and Disjuncture
On the Meaning of al-Shūrā
The System of al-Shūrā
Al-Shūrā and Democracy: on Relations of Proximity
Al-Shūrā is Religious and Democracy is Secular

9  Pseudo-Theocracy in the Rule of Allah – ‘al-Ḥākimiyah’
On the Destinies of the Expression ‘Islamic State’
The Jāhili Society and the Muslim Society
On the Concept of ‘al-Ḥākimiyah’

10 Pseudo-Theocracy: On the ‘Wilāyat al-Faqīh’
From ‘Conditional’ to the ‘Imamate’: The Context of Retreat
On the Renewal of Subjects of the Fiqh of the Imamate
- The Imamate and its Designation
- The Invalidation of al-Shūrā
On the ‘Wilāyat al-Faqīh’
- On the Need for Government
- On the Functions of the Fuqahā’
- On the Model of Islamic Government

11 On the Criticism of ‘Divine Right’
On the Criticism of Religious Authority
On the Criticism of ‘al-Ḥākimiyah’
On the Criticism of the ‘Wilāyat al-Faqīh’

12 Is There a Contemporary Islamic Thought?
On the Application of the Term ‘Islamic Thought’
On the Conceptual Affiliation to Contemporary ‘Islamic Literature’

Epilogue 285

References 297

Index 309