Russian Bureaucracy and the State

Officialdom From Alexander III to Vladimir Putin

Edited by

Don K. Rowney
Professor of History and Senior Research Fellow
Bowling Green State University, USA

and

Eugene Huskey
William R. Kenan, Jr. Professor of Political Science and Director of Russian Studies
Stetson University, USA
Contents

List of Tables vii
Preface and Acknowledgements viii
Contributors x

1 Introduction: Russian Officialdom since 1881
Don K. Rowney and Eugene Huskey 1

Part I Late Tsarist Officialdom

2 The Institutional Structure of Late Tsarist Officialdom: An Introduction
Don K. Rowney 19

3 Imperial Russian Officialdom during Modernization
Don K. Rowney 26

4 Identities, Loyalties and Government Service in Tsarist Ukraine
Stephen Velychenko 46

5 Multi-ethnicity and Estonian Tsarist State Officials in Estland Province, 1881–1914
Bradley D. Woodworth 72

6 The Military Bureaucracy in the Samarkand Oblast’ of Russian Turkestan
Alexander Morrison 89

Part II Soviet Officialdom

7 An Introduction to Soviet Officialdom
Eugene Huskey and Don K. Rowney 111

8 The Communist Party and the Weakness of Bureaucratic Norms
Graeme Gill 118

9 White-Collar Workers in the Second Revolution and Postwar Reconstruction
Daniel Orlovsky 135
Contents

10 Survival Strategies in the Soviet Bureaucracy: The Case of the Statistics Administration
Martine Mespoulet
152

11 Corruption among Officials and Anticorruption Drives in the USSR, 1945–1964
James Heinzen
169

12 Soviet Foreign Policy from the 1970s through the Gorbachev Era: The Role of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Communist Party International Department
Marie-Pierre Rey
189

Part III Post-communist Officialdom

13 An Introduction to Post-communist Officialdom
Eugene Huskey
215

14 Hiring and Promoting Young Civil Servants: Weberian Ideals versus Russian Reality
Vladimir Gimpelson, Vladimir Magun, and Robert J. Brym
231

15 The Politics–Administration Nexus in Post-communist Russia
Eugene Huskey
253

16 Delivering State Services to the Population: The Development of State Welfare Agencies in Post-Soviet Russia
Cecile Lefevre
273

17 The Fate of Russian Officialdom: Fundamental Reform or Technical Improvements?
Alexei Barabashev, Mikhail Krasnov, Alexander Obolonsky, and Tatiana Zaitseva
290

18 Why Is It So Difficult to Reform Russian Officialdom?
Alexander Obolonsky
301

19 Conclusion
Eugene Huskey and Don K. Rowney
317

Select Bibliography
334

Index
338