Rights, Citizenship and Torture: Perspectives on Evil, Law and the State

Edited by

John Parry & Welat Zeydanlıoğlu

Inter-Disciplinary Press
Oxford, United Kingdom
Contents

Introduction vii

Part 1 The Language of Evil
The Linguistics of Evil and Crime in the Courts, Media and Government

Kate Storey-White

Part 2 Torture
Torture: Ticking Bombs and Slippery Slopes

John Janzekovic

Torture after Nuremburg: U.S. Law and Practice

Elizabeth Rapaport

Torture in Postcolonial India: Struggle within the Jurisprudence

Jinee Lokaneeta

Torture and Turkification in the Diyarbakir Military Prison

Welat Zeydanhoglu

Part 3 Rights, Liberties, and Citizenship
The Balance of Evils: Evil, Law and State Surveillance

Susan N. Herman

Civil Liberty v. Collective Security

Francine Baker

Protecting us from the Forces of Evil: Judicial and non-Judicial Detention in Australia

Francesca Dominello

Government through Freedom: The Technology of the Life Cycle Arrangement

Anja Eleveld

Part 4 Speech
The Criminalization of Speech in an Age of Terror

Shawn Marie Boyne
I Hate Everything About You - The Evil of Hate
Speech Laws
David White

Is Book-Burning Bad?
Theodore P. Seto

Part 5 Ethnicity, Nationalism, and Strangers
In Search of Protection: Indonesia’s “Janus Face” Toward the Chinese Minority
Benny D. Setianto

Rethinking the Stranger in a “World of Strangers”: Power Relations, Tolerance and Cosmopolitanism
Gizem Tongo

International Law and Ethnic Conflicts in a World of Multi-Nation States: The Case of Chittagong Hill Tracts (CHT), Bangladesh
Mohammad Shahabuddin

Part 6 Regulating Legitimate Violence
Coercion, the Neglected Quintessence of War
Jan F.W. van Angeren

Notes on Contributors