

SUB Hamburg

A/558660

---

WHAT SHOULD CONSTITUTIONS DO?

Edited by

Ellen Frankel Paul, Fred D. Miller, Jr., and Jeffrey Paul

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

CONTENTS

	Introduction	vii
	Acknowledgments	xvi
	Contributors	xvii
LARRY ALEXANDER	What Are Constitutions, and What Should (and Can) They Do?	1
JOHN DAVID LEWIS	Constitution and Fundamental Law: The Lesson of Classical Athens	25
LOREN E. LOMASKY	Contract, Covenant, Constitution	50
MICHAEL ZUCKERT and FELIX VALENZUELA	Constitutionalism in the Age of Terror	72
FERNANDO R. TESÓN	The Liberal Constitution and Foreign Affairs	115
SANFORD LEVINSON	Do Constitutions Have a Point? Reflections on “Parchment Barriers” and Preambles	150
SCOTT D. GERBER	The Origins of an Independent Judiciary in New York, 1621-1777	179
ILYA SOMIN	Foot Voting, Political Ignorance, and Constitutional Design	202
WILLIAM A. GALSTON	Pluralist Constitutionalism	228
JAMES S. FISHKIN	Deliberative Democracy and Constitutions	242
GUIDO PINCIONE	The Constitution of Nondomination	261
RICHARD A. EPSTEIN	Can We Design an Optimal Constitution? Of Structural Ambiguity and Rights Clarity	290
	Index	325