The Crisis of Democratic Governance in Southeast Asia

Edited by

Aurel Croissant
Professor, Institute of Political Science, Heidelberg University, Germany

and

Marco Bünte
Senior Research Fellow, Institute of Asian Studies, German Institute of Global and Area Studies, Hamburg, Germany
Contents

List of Illustrations vii
Acknowledgements ix
Notes on the Contributors x

1 Introduction
Marco Bünte and Aurel Croissant 1

2 Contours and Barriers to Democratization in Southeast Asia:
A Comparative Analysis of How Southeast Asians View Democracy
Doh Chull Shin and Youngho Cho 16

3 Associations and Social Networks in Southeast Asia:
Schools of Democracy?
Chong-min Park 39

4 Moore Meets Gramsci and Burke in Southeast Asia:
New Democracies and 'Civil' Societies
Mark R. Thompson 57

5 Political Islam and Democratization in Southeast Asia
Andreas Ufen 75

6 Types of Democracy in Southeast Asia and Democratic Consolidation
Aurel Croissant 93

7 Political Reform and the Demise of Consociationalism in Southeast Asia
Benjamin Reilly 114

8 Decentralization and Democratic Governance in Southeast Asia: Theoretical Views, Conceptual Pitfalls and Empirical Ambiguities
Marco Bünte 131

9 Coming Up Short? Party System Institutionalization in Southeast Asia
Allen Hicken 151

10 An Appreciation of the Human Rights Situation in Southeast Asia
Roland Rich 171
Illustrations

10.5 Economic, social and cultural rights 177
10.6 Human development index 178
11.1 Categories of civil–military relations and regime types in East and Southeast Asia (2007) 195
12.1 Cultural and non-cultural domestic violent conflict affectedness of different regime types, 1945–1977 and 1978–2007 218
12.2 Truth table for outcome ‘cultural conflict affectedness’ 223
12.3 Truth table for outcome ‘non-cultural conflict affectedness’ 223
12.4 MVQCA results 223
13.1 Involvement of Southeast Asia’s new democracies in violent interstate conflict, 1946–2009 234
13.2 Accession of Southeast Asian democracies to United Nations human rights conventions 241 13.3 Southeast Asian democracies’ membership in and year of accession to regional organizations 242
14.1 2008 WGI scores (from −2.5 to +2.5) 256
14.2 Type of political regime and governance categories in
South East Asia 257
14.3 Changes in WGI scores over the period 1998–2008 258
14.4 Prospects for democracy – conducive and obstructive factors 262

Figures

2.1 The properties of democracy Southeast Asians named exclusively and jointly 20
2.2 Authoritarian conceptions of democracy by cultural zones 22
2.3 Authentic and full supporters of democracy 34
6.1 The position of Asian cases in Lijphart’s democracy matrix 106 12.1 Cultural and non-cultural conflicts (domestic and international, 1945–2007) 214
12.2 Cultural violent crises as well as limited wars and wars in Southeast Asia and Asia (domestic and international conflicts, 1945–2007) 215
12.3 Relationship between regime type and cultural conflict affectedness in Southeast Asia and remaining Asia &
Oceania (domestic violent conflicts, 1945–2007) 219
12.4 The political conflict management model 221