From Rivalry to Partnership?
New Approaches to the Challenges of Africa

Edited by

TONY CHAFER
University of Portsmouth, UK

and

GORDON CUMMING
Cardiff University, UK

ASHGATE
Contents

Notes on Contributors vii
First Preface: A UK Perspective. The December 1998 Saint-Malo Declaration on Africa ix
Third Preface: An African Perspective: Divergent Views of Anglo-French Cooperation xv
Acknowledgements xix
List of Abbreviations xx

PART I: INTRODUCTION AND THEORY

Introduction 3
Tony Chafer and Gordon Cumming

1 A Theoretical Perspective on Northern Cooperation in Africa 13
Theresa Callan

PART II: THE UK, FRANCE AND COOPERATION IN AFRICA

Alex Vines

3 From Unilateralism to Multilateralism: The Decline of French Power in Africa 41
Daniel Bourmaud

4 Britain and France in Africa since Saint-Malo: Towards an Uneasy Partnership? 55
Gordon Cumming

5 Anglo-French Security Cooperation in Africa since Saint-Malo 73
Tony Chafer
PART III: OTHER BILATERAL 'PARTNERSHIPS'

6 Scandinavian Africa Policies: Value-based Foreign Policies between British Affinity, French National Interests and EU Norms
   Gorm Rye Olsen

7 US-UK Cooperation in Africa
   Paul D. Williams

8 Franco-American Ties: Old Foes, New Friends?
   Niagalé Bagayoko

PART IV: WORKING TOGETHER ON THE GROUND

9 The UK and France in the DRC: Making Their Own Peace
   Gordon Cumming

10 Anglo-French Cooperation vis-à-vis the African Union
   Tony Chafer

PART V: OTHER MODELS OF COOPERATION

11 The New European Security Architecture:
    An Example of ‘Messy Multilateralism’?
    Marie V. Gibert

12 Sino-African Relations and the Implications for the EU’s ‘Partnership’ with Africa
    Ian Taylor

PART VI: CONCLUDING REMARKS

13 Conclusion: From Rivalry to Partnership?
   Gordon Cumming, Tony Chafer and Theresa Callan

Bibliography
Index