DECOLONIZING EPISTEMOLOGIES
Latina/o Theology and Philosophy

EDITED BY
ADA MARÍA ISASI-DÍAZ
AND EDUARDO MENDIETA

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY PRESS • NEW YORK • 2012
CONTENTS

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction: Freeing Subjugated Knowledge |
Ada María Isasi-Díaz
and Eduardo Mendieta 1

KNOWING REALITY
Decolonizing Western Epistemology / Building Decolonial
Epistemologies | Walter Mignolo 19
Mujerista Discourse: A Platform for Latinas' Subjugated
Knowledge | Ada María Isasi-Díaz 44
Methodological Notes toward a Decolonial Feminism |
María Lugones 68
An(other) Invitation to Epistemological Humility: Notes toward a Self-Critical Approach to Counter-Knowledges | Otto Maduro 87

LATINA/O LOCUS HISTORICUS
Anti-Latino Racism | Linda Martín Alcoff 107
The Act of Remembering: The Reconstruction of U.S. Latina/o
Identities by U.S. Latina/o Muslims | Hjamil A. Martínez-Vázquez 127
If It Is Not Catholic, Is It Popular Catholicism? Evil Eye,
Espiritismo, and Santería: Latina/o Religion within Latina/o
Theology | Michelle A. González 151
"Racism is not intellectual": Interracial Friendship, Multicultural Literature, and Decolonizing Epistemologies | Paula M. L. Moya 169

MAPPING LATINA/O FUTURES
Epistemology, Ethics, and the Time/Space of Decolonization: Perspectives from the Caribbean and the Latina/o Americas | Nelson Maldonado-Torres 193
Thinking Bodies: The Spirit of a Latina Incarnational Imagination | Mayra Rivera Rivera 207
Decolonizing Religion: Pragmatism and Latina/o Religious Experience | Christopher Tines 226
The Ethics of (Not) Knowing: Take Care of Ethics and Knowledge Will Come of Its Own Accord | Eduardo Mendieta 247

Notes 265
List of Contributors 311
Index 313