Cooperative Diplomacy, Regional Stability and National Interests

The Nile River and the Riparian States

Edited by Korwa G. Adar and Nicasius A. Check
Contents

Acknowledgements viii
About the Editors ix
About the Contributors xi
Abbreviations, Acronyms and Concepts xiii
Introduction: The Nile River Basin – An introductory context xvii
Korwa G. Adar and Nicasius A. Check
Physiographic and Statistical Appraisal of the Nile River Basin xx
Politico-Legal and Conceptual Frameworks xxii
Contents and Sections of the Book xxiii

PART 1
TREATIES AND AGREEMENTS OF THE NILE RIVER BASIN:
LEGAL QUESTIONS AND CASE STUDIES

1 The interpretation of the 1929 treaty and its legal relevance to and implications for the stability of the region 1
Patrick Loch Otieno Lumumba
1.1 Introduction 3
1.1.1 Is the Nile River part of res communis (common heritage of humankind)? 4
1.2 Historical Background 5
1.2.1 Salient features of the 1929 treaty 8
1.3 Interpretation of the 1929 Treaty 8
1.3.1 The 1929 treaty and third parties 13
1.3.2 The implications for regional stability: Making a case for more effective riparian dialogue 14
1.4 Latter-day Efforts: Agreement on the Nile River Basin Cooperative
Framework, 2010 16
1.5 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations 17

2 The Democratic Republic of Congo and the Nile Cooperative Framework
Agreement 23
André Mbata B. Mangu

The Nile River and the riparian states iii
Contents

2.1 Introduction 23
2.2 International Conventions under the DRC's Constitutional Law 25
2.3 The DRC's Position on the 1929 Egypt-Britain and the 1959 Egypt-Sudan Agreements on the Nile River 26
2.4 DRC's Conflict and Involvement in the NBI 27
  2.4.1 Background to the DRC's involvement in the NBI: Conflict and foreign aggression 27
  2.4.2 DRC's involvement in the NBI 28
2.5 The DRC and the CFA 29
  2.5.1 The CFA 30
  2.5.2 General principles of the CFA 30
  2.5.3 Rights and duties of the states under the CFA 31
  2.5.4 The NRB Commission 31
  2.5.5 The DRC and its role in the negotiation, signing and commencement of the CFA 34
2.6 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations 36

3 Cooperation between Egypt and Sudan over the Nile River waters: The challenges of duality 39
  Biong Deng

  3.1 Introduction 39
  3.2 Research Questions on the Equitable Sharing of the Nile Waters 40
  3.3 International Legal Theories and Conflict-resolution Mechanisms on Uses of Water Resources 40
  3.4 Egypt and the 1929 Nile Waters Agreement 45
  3.5 Egypt and the 1959 Nile Waters Agreement 48
  3.6 Egypt's Geopolitical Strategies and the Nile 50
  3.7 Sudan and the Use of the Nile Waters 53
    3.7.1 Sudan: Political developments and Egypt's imprints 54
  3.8 Cooperative Frameworks in the Nile Basin 59
    3.8.1 The Nile Basin Initiative 60
  3.9 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations 63

4 Ethiopia's position on the Nile water agreements 67
  Tesfaye Tafesse

  4.1 Introduction 67
  4.2 Appraisal of Nile Water Agreements 68
    4.2.1 Rome, 15 April 1891 68
    4.2.2 Addis Ababa, 15 May 1902 68
    4.2.3 London, 13 April 1906 69
    4.2.4 9 May 1906 70
    4.2.5 7 May 1929 70
    4.2.6 The 1959 agreement 71
  4.3 Ethiopia's Position with Regard to the Nile Water Agreements 73
  4.4 The Cooperative Framework Agreement 75
  4.5 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations 78
5 Rwanda and the Nile Cooperative Framework Agreement: Assessing the 1929 Nile treaty

Nicolas A. Check

5.1 Introduction
5.2 Conceptualising Transborder Water Management
5.3 History and Hydropolitics of the Nile Basin: Assessing the 1929 Nile Water Agreement
5.4 The Nile Basin Initiative
5.5 Rwanda's Water Need
5.6 Nile Basin Cooperative Framework Agreement
5.7 Rwanda and the Nile Basin Cooperative Framework Agreement
5.8 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations

PART 2

NATIONAL AND REGIONAL INTERESTS IN THE NILE RIVER BASIN: COUNTRY CASE STUDIES

6 Burundi's national interests and the Nile Basin Initiative

Jean S. Muntunutwiwe

7 The Nile River and Egyptian foreign-policy interests

Hamdy A. Hassan and Ahmad Al Rasheedy

7.1 Introduction
7.2 Egypt and the Nile Civilisations: Historical Context
7.3 The Nile River Waters and Egypt's Southern Strategic Imperatives
7.4 Egyptian Foreign-Policy Approaches and the Nile River Water
   7.4.1 The pre-1922 scenario and perspectives regarding Egyptian water politics
   7.4.2 Egyptian foreign-policy behaviour in the 1922–1952 period
   7.4.3 The post-1952 revolution and Egyptian foreign-policy interests in the Nile Basin
7.5 Egypt's Dilemma: Bilateralism or Multilateralism?
7.6 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations

8 The Nile 'Lone Ranger' in the Nile River waters initiative: The case of Eritrea

Adams Oloo

8.1 Introduction
8.2 Historical Background
8.3 The Nile Basin Initiative: The Search for Cooperation
   8.3.1 Nile Basin Initiative: The challenges
8.4 Eritrea's National and Geopolitical Interests and the Nile
8.5 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations
9 Kenya's foreign-policy and geopolitical interests: The case of the Nile River Basin

Korwa G. Adar

9.1 Introduction 167
9.2 Operational Research Questions 168
9.3 Theoretical Perspectives on State Claims to Rights to River Waters and International Drainage Basins 169
9.4 Domestic Context and Kenya's Foreign-policy Interests in the Nile Water 172
9.5 Multilateral Diplomatic Initiatives and Kenya's Foreign-policy Interests in the Nile Water Question 174
9.6 Regional Geopolitical Questions and Kenya's Foreign-policy Interests in the Nile Basin 179
9.7 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations 183

10 Tanzania: Multilateralism and national interests in the Nile River Basin question

Richard M. Bosire

10.1 Introduction 189
10.2 Governance of Watercourses: Existing Principles 190
  10.2.1 The Harmon Doctrine 190
  10.2.2 Absolute territorial integrity 191
  10.2.3 Absolute territorial sovereignty 191
  10.2.4 Limited territorial sovereignty 191
  10.2.5 Equitable utilisation 191
  10.2.6 Community of co-riparians 192
10.3 The Nile Water and its Geopolitical Significance to Tanzania 192
10.4 Theoretical Framework for Nile Basin Cooperation 195
  10.4.1 Interest-based regimes 196
  10.4.2 Liberal institutionalist approach 197
  10.4.3 Institutional bargaining 198
10.5 Tanzania's Foreign Policy: Defining National-interest Priorities 199
10.6 Centrality of Fresh Water and Tanzania's Development 201
  10.6.1 Tanzania's water policy 202
  10.6.2 Water and agriculture 203
  10.6.3 Water and other key sectors 204
10.7 Tanzania's Response to the 1929 Agreement 204
  10.7.1 The Nyerere Doctrine of state succession 205
10.8 Multilateralism: In Pursuit of National Interests 206
  10.8.1 Hydrometeorological project (HYDROMET) 206
  10.8.2 Undugu 207
  10.8.3 TECCONILE 207
  10.8.4 The Kagera Basin Organization 207
  10.8.5 Nile Basin Initiative 208
10.9 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations 209
11 National and regional foreign policy underpinnings: Uganda and the Nile River Basin controversy
  Godfrey P. Okoth

11.1 Introduction 215
11.3 Nile-Water Conflicts and Cooperation Within the Riparian States 219
11.4 Conceptualising Uganda’s Foreign-Policy Interest 223
11.5 Conclusion and Policy Recommendations 230

PART 3

CONCLUSION

Conclusion: Setting the agenda for a Nile River waters agreement
  Korwa G. Adar and Nicasius A. Check 235

12.1 Introduction 237
12.2 The Cooperative Framework Agreement 241
  12.2.1 Towards a new water-sharing treaty? 242

Appendix 1 248
Appendix 2 250