CONTENTS

List of figures
List of tables
Notes on contributors
Acknowledgments
List of abbreviations

Introduction
Thomas C. Bruneau and Florina Cristiana Matei

PART I
Development of the field of study

1 Impediments to the accurate conceptualization of civil–military relations
Thomas C. Bruneau

2 Development of an approach through debate
Thomas C. Bruneau

3 A new conceptualization of civil–military relations
Florina Cristiana Matei

4 Efficiency in the use of resources
Thomas C. Bruneau

5 Security sector reform
Timothy Edmunds
Contents

6 Escape from Huntington’s labyrinth: Civil–military relations and comparative politics
José A. Olmeda

PART II
Civil–military relations in non-democratic or nominally democratic countries

7 Civil–military relations in a dictatorship: North Korea
Jargalsaikhan Mendee

8 Learning from failure: Egypt
Robert Springborg

9 Lessons not to learn: Post-communist Russia
Mikhail Tsypkin

10 The transformation of the Bolivarian Armed Force: Venezuela
Harold A. Trinkunas

11 Rebuilding the military under democratic control: Iraq
Abbas Kadhim

PART III
Civil–military relations in democratic and democratizing states: Issues and institutions

SECTION A
Control: Four case studies

12 Asserting civilian control: Argentina
Thomas C. Bruneau and Florina Cristiana Matei

13 Civilian influence in defense: Slovenia
Florina Cristiana Matei

14 Shifting lines of governance in insurgencies: India
Anshu N. Chatterjee

15 Executive civilian control of the military: Spain
Florina Cristiana Matei and José A. Olmeda
SECTION B

Effectiveness: Six case studies

16 Reforms in professional military education: The United States
   Thomas C. Bruneau

17 Discovering peacekeeping as a new mission: Mongolia
   Thomas C. Bruneau and Jargalsaikhan Mendee

18 The impact of NATO membership on military effectiveness:
   Hungary
   Florina Cristiana Matei

19 Redefining defense strategy: France
   Hélène Dieck

20 Building an integrated military in post-conflict societies:
   Lebanon
   Anne Marie Baylouny

21 Civil–military relations in an emerging democracy:
   South Africa
   Jessica Piombo

SECTION C

Control and effectiveness: Six case studies

22 Developing a robust Ministry of Defense and a Joint Staff:
   Portugal
   Thomas C. Bruneau

23 Democratic civilian control and military effectiveness: Chile
   Florina Cristiana Matei and Marcos Robledo

24 Achieving neutrality and effectiveness: Austria
   Donald Abenheim and Carolyn Halladay

25 Stability in flux: policy, strategy, and institutions in Germany
   Donald Abenheim and Carolyn Halladay

26 NATO, the demand for democratic control, and military effectiveness: Romania
   Florina Cristiana Matei
Contents

27 The impact of the Partnership for Peace on civil–military relations: Moldova 331
   Diana Molodilo and Valeriu Mija

28 Conclusion 343
   Thomas C. Bruneau and Florina Cristiana Matei

Select bibliography 349
Index 365