A History of the North Atlantic Fisheries

Volume 2:
From the 1850s to the Early Twenty-First Century

edited by
David J. Starkey & Ingo Heidbrink

Verlag H. M. Hauschild GmbH, Bremen
Contents

Series Editor's Foreword ................................................................. 7
Sponsors of this Volume ............................................................... 8
Preface ......................................................................................... 9
Contributors .............................................................................. 10

1. The North Atlantic Fisheries: Bearings, Currents and Grounds ........... 13
   David J. Starkey

2. Evolution in the Fish Supply Chain .................................................. 27
   Chris Reid

3. From Sail to Factory Freezer: Patterns of Technological Change ............. 58
   Ingo Heidbrink

4. Trade Unionism in the Fisheries: A Comparative Analysis of Britain and the United States in the Twentieth Century ............ 79
   Colin J. Davis

5. The Socio-Cultural Characteristics of North Atlantic Fishing Communities .......................................................... 99
   Søren Byskov

   Jennifer Hubbard

7. The Law of the Sea, 1850–2010 .......................................................... 177
   Richard A. Barnes

8. The Fisheries in Norwegian and Russian Waters, 1850–2010 .................. 226
   Bjørn-Petter Finstad and Julia Lajus

9. The North Sea Littoral and British Isles ................................................. 238
   Robb Robinson

10. The Fisheries of the Iberian Peninsula in Modern Times ...................... 253
    Ernesto López Losa and Inês Amorim

11. ‘Life is Salt Fish’: The Fisheries of the Mid-Atlantic Islands in the Twentieth Century ........................................... 277
    Gudni Th. Jóhannesson