Contents

Notes on Contributors ........................................................................................................... ix

Introduction ............................................................................................................................ 1

Marcel van der Linden and Karl Heinz Roth

Part One

The Many-Headed Hydra: Reflections on History from Below ........................................... 23

Peter Linebaugh and Marcus Rediker

Seamen on Late Eighteenth-Century European Warships .................................................... 41

Niklas Frykman

Class-Warfare: Primitive Accumulation, Military Revolution and the British War-Worker ............................................................................................................................... 65

Peter Way

The Shifting Maelstrom: From Plantations to Assembly-Lines ........................................... 89

Ferruccio Gambino and Devi Sacchetto

Workerism: An Inside View. From the Mass-Worker to Self-Employed Labour ....................... 121

Sergio Bologna

Workers and Working Classes in Contemporary India: A Note on Analytic Frames and Political Formations .................................................................................................................. 145

Subir Sinha

Revolutionary Subjectivity, the Limit to Capital .................................................................... 173

Detlef Hartmann
Housewifisation – Globalisation – Subsistence-Perspective ........................................... 209
  Maria Mies

Notes on Elder-Care Work and the Limits of Marxism .................................................... 239
  Silvia Federici

Part Two
Cornelius Castoriadis's Break With Marxism ................................................................. 253
  Jean-Louis Prat

A Theory of Defeat. Marx and the Evidence of the Nineteenth Century .......................... 259
  Ahlrich Meyer

Poverty, Labour, Development: Towards a Critique of Marx's Conceptualisations .......... 281
  Max Henninger

What is Sold on the Labour-Market? .............................................................................. 305
  Thomas Kuczynski

In And For Itself: Freedom. On the Historical Tendency of a Renewed Critique of the Political Economy of Labour .............................................................. 319
  Sebastian Gerhardt

The 'Fragment on Machines' and the Grundrisse: The Workerist Reading in Question .......................................................... 345
  Massimiliano Tomba and Riccardo Bellofiore

Revolution from Above? Money and Class-Composition in Italian Operaismo ............... 369
  Steve Wright

Marxism after the Death of Gold ...................................................................................... 395
  C. George Caffentzis

From the Mass-Worker to Cognitive Labour: Historical and Theoretical Considerations 417
  Carlo Vercellone