CORAL

Something Rich and Strange

Edited by
Marion Endt-Jones
Contents

Acknowledgements 6
Foreword 7

Introductory Essay
Marion Endt-Jones  A monstrous transformation: coral in art and culture 9

Interview
Marion Endt-Jones  Shared forms in nature: an interview with Gemma Anderson 21

Something Rich and Strange
1 Dmitri Logunov  What are corals? 33
2 Dmitri Logunov  Manchester Museum’s coral collection 37
3 David Gelsthorpe  Fossil corals in the UK 38
4 Bryan Sitch and Keith Sugden  Perseus, Medusa and the birth of coral 41
5 Campbell Price  Coral jewellery from Egypt 45
6 Melanie Giles  The Danes Graves wheel-headed pin (The Yorkshire Museum) 47
7 Stephen Terence Welsh  Red coral beads, Benin City (nineteenth century) 49
8 Henry McGhie  The Challenger expedition 53
9 Henry McGhie  Sydney Hickson (1859–1940) 54
10 Marion Endt-Jones  Coral shrine from Trapani (c. 1650) 59
11 Gerhard Theewen  Mark Dion, Blood-Coral (2011) The experiment: a recollection 60
12 Susannah Gibson  Living rocks: the mystery of coral in the eighteenth century 63
13 James Delbourgo  Expiscatus! 67
14 Alistair Sponsel  Darwin’s theory of coral reef formation 70
15 Katharine Anderson  Victorian coral jewellery 75
16 Pandora Syperek  The Blaschka glass models of marine invertebrates (c. 1860–1890) 82
17 Carol Mavor  The ceaseless seas of magical, miraculous, marvellous coral 85
18 Patricia Allmer  Eileen Agar, Coral, Seahorse (1935) 92
19 Donna Roberts  David Gascoyne, Perseus and Andromeda (1936) 95
20 David Lomas  Max Ernst, Antediluvian Landscape (1967) 97
24 Marion Endt-Jones  Mark Dion, Bone Coral (Phantom Museum) (2011) 107
27 Marion Endt-Jones  The Institute for Figuring’s Hyperbolic Crochet Coral Reef (2005–present) 119

Epilogue
Mark Dion  Oceanophilia – Oceanicide 122
Contributors 126
Index 128