The Making of a World City
London 1991 to 2021

Greg Clark
Contents

About the Author ix
Foreword by Martin Simmons xi
Preface by Rosemary Feenan and Robert Gordon Clark xiii
Acknowledgements xv

Section I London in 1991 – Setting the scene

1 Introduction: Honor Chapman and London: World City 3

2 London prior to 1991: The back story 11
   Planning for a new world city 12
   The rise of finance and a new rationale for post-industrial London 13
   A hiatus of government 16
   The LDDC and a new era of pragmatism 16

3 The 1991 London: World City report and its message about London 19
   Old rivals, new rivals 22
   An agenda for metropolitan governance 24
   Brand new: The promotion of London 26
   The future knowledge economy 29

Section II The evolution of London, 1991 to 2015

4 The internationalisation of London’s economy 35
   Internationalisation of London’s labour force 39
   The global financial crisis and after 43

5 Leadership, governance and policy 47
   1997 and a new direction for metropolitan government 52
   The London Plan: A global city strategy 56
   London boroughs 59
   Promoting London 60
   London’s governance today 66
6 Re-investment and urban regeneration 69
Cultural revitalisation of the South Bank: Lambeth, Southwark and Greenwich 72
New regeneration powers from 2000 74
Regeneration in perspective 77
From de-industrial to post-industrial: Building a new experience for markets, leisure and commerce 80

7 Corporate hub, office market and real estate 87
The rise and rise of tall buildings 88
The diffusion of London's office geography 89
The transformative impact of foreign capital 93

8 Homes and housing in London 99
Consensus but complacency in the 1990s 100
The London Plan and a new agenda for housing 101
London’s housing predicament: Prospects and solutions 107

9 London’s evolving infrastructure platform 111
The impact of TfL and citywide government on transport 113
From incrementalism to integration? 117

Section III London today and in the future

10 World cities today 121
Measuring world cities in 2015 125
Emerging world cities 128
Insights from benchmarks about short- and long-term city success 132

11 London in the next decade: Implications of the rise of other world cities 135
Finance and business: Global leadership in a new context 138
Culture, diversity and destination 143
Higher education, technology and new sectors 145
Sustainability and liveability: Aspiration or reality? 149
Infrastructure, housing and skills 151

12 Investment in London: Challenges and solutions 159
London’s relationship with the UK 160
London’s constrained investment scene 162
The financial and investment capacity of London’s five principal rivals 166
London’s fiscal position in perspective 169

13 Eight imperatives for London 175
14 Lessons from London for other cities 187

Appendix 195
Bibliography 197

Index 219