Technical Papers

Effects of Inherited Pre-Jurassic Tectonics on the U.S. Gulf Coast,

Secondary Natural Gas Recovery in Mature Fluvial Sandstone Reservoirs, Frio Formation,
Agua Dulce Field, South Texas, William A. Ambrose, Raymond A. Levey, José M. Vidal,
Mark A. Sippel, James R. Ballard, David M. Coover, Jr., and Walter E. Bloxsom..................11

Seismic Evidence for Timing of Shallow Salt Emplacement on the Texas Continental Slope,
Lila M. Beckley and E. William Behrens..........................25

Correlation Efficiency as a Tool to Better Determine Depositional subenvironments in Submarine Fans, Arnold H. Bouma, Michael B. DeVries, and Timothy W. Cook..................31

Upper Tertiary/Quaternary Detachment Surface Gulf Coast – Texas and Louisiana,
Robert O. Brooks...................................................41

Integrated Geological, Engineering, and Petrophysical Analysis of Bypassed, Incompletely Drained, and Untapped Thin-Bed Gas Reservoirs, North McFaddin Field, Texas,
Mark J. Burns, Mark A. Sippel, José M. Vidal, James R. Ballard, and Raymond A. Levey......47

West Delta Block 35: Rediscovery of a 23 Year Old Field,
Gary W. Coburn and Kenneth E. Beeney..........................57

Geology of Deep Water Sandstones in the Mississippian Stanley Shale at Cossatot Falls, Arkansas,
James L. Coleman, Jr..............................................71

Fracture Zones Between Overlapping En Echelon Fault Strands: Outcrop Analogs within the Balcones Fault Zone, Central Texas, Edward W. Collins.................................77

The Lower Tuscaloosa Formation in the Greensburg Field and Joseph Branch Field Areas, St. Helena Parish, Louisiana, Maureen K. Corcoran, Christopher P. Cameron and Maurice A. Meylan .................87

Relating Sequence Stratigraphy to Lithostratigraphy in Siliciclastic-Dominated Shelf Settings, Paleogene, Central-East Texas, Andrew J. Davidoff and Thomas E. Yancey ..........................................................97

Shongaloo Field: A Recent Smackover (Jurassic) Discovery in the Arkansas-Louisiana State Line Graben, William D. DeMis and Jeffrey V. Milliken .........................................................109

Application of Sealevel Stratigraphy to Neogene Great Plains Stratigraphy, R. F. Diffendal, Jr. and A. Lowrie .................................................................121

Giant Oil Fields of the Gulf Coast Area, F. R. Haeberle .................................................................131

Miocene Sequence Biostratigraphy of the Northern Gulf of Mexico, Mark M. Jiang ........................137

Radiostratigraphy and Heavy Mineral Content of The Weches Formation (Eocene), Nacogdoches County, Texas, Kelly, Jobe, E.B. Ledger, Patricia Sharp, and M.C. Crocker ............145

Recent Horizontal Drilling in Lockhart Crossing Field, Livingston Parish, Louisiana: Its Impact on Geological Interpretation, Randy J. Johnson .................................................................149

Eustatic and Tectonic Effects within Sequence Stratigraphy of the Outcropping Paralic-Marine Section, Upper Cretaceous, Alabama, David T. King, Jr .................................................................157

Depositional Sequence Analysis and the Characteristics of Some Confined Clastic Aquifers, Upper Cretaceous, Alabama, David T. King, Jr .................................................................165

Upward Shoaling Cycles in Smackover Carbonates of Southwest Alabama, David C. Kopaska-Merkel and Steven D. Mann .................................................................173

Heterostegina Zone Carbonates, Southeastern Louisiana-Offshore Mississippi: Petrography, Seismic Stratigraphy, Hydrocarbon Potential, Paul R. Krutak and Philip Beron, Jr .................................183

Simple Approximations for Estimating Quickly the Motion and Timing of Salt Diapir Rise, Overhang Development, and Associated Thermal Anomalies from Present Day Observations: Case Histories from the Gulf of Mexico and Danish North Sea, I. Lerche and R. O. Thomsen .................................................................195

The Proposed Cade II Landfill Site, South Louisiana: Threat to the Chicot Aquifer, Brian E. Lock .................................................................211

Subsurface Structure and Hydrocarbon Occurrence, Cretaceous Rocks of Maxie and Pistol Ridge Fields, Southeastern Mississippi, Songquiao Luo and Maurice A. Meylan .................................................................239

Characteristics of Heat Flow through Diapiric Structures on the Texas Continental Slope, Seiichi Nagihara, Lila M. Beckley, E. William Behrens, and John G. Sclater .................................................................269

Sequence Stratigraphic and Depositional Framework of the Paleocene Lower Wilcox Strata, Northwest Gulf of Mexico Basin, Liangqing Xue and William F. Galloway .......................................................... 453

Depositional Gradient Analysis in Transgressive Systems Tracts and Highstand Systems Tracts, Mid-Late Eocene of the Brazos River Valley, Texas, Thomas E. Yancey, Andrew J. Davidoff, and Ted S. Donaho .......................................................... 465

Hydrocarbon Transfer Pathways from Smackover Source Rocks to Younger Reservoir Traps in the Monroe Gas Field, Northeast Louisiana, R. K. Zimmerman and Roger Sassen .......................................................... 473

Resource Assessment and Profitability from Discovery Rate Forecasting, Konstantinos Zorbalas and Rudy E. Rogers .......................................................... 481

Paleoecologic and Biostratigraphic Models for Pleistocene through Miocene Foraminiferal Assemblages of the Gulf Coast Basin, Sylvester Q. Breard, Arden D. Callender, Michael J. Nault .......................................................... 493

Abstracts

Waterfalls and Travertine in the Tunica Hills Mississippi, Whitney J. Autin .......................................................... 503

Correlation Efficiency as a Tool to Establish Depositional Subenvironments in Submarine Fans, Arnold H. Bouma, Michael B. DeVries, and Timothy W. Cook .......................................................... 504

Recognition of Channel Fill Types in Deltas and Submarine Fans, Arnold H. Bouma and Donald Goddard .......................................................... 505

Criteria to Aid in the Establishment of Genetic Boundaries within a Carboniferous Basin; Mary Lee Coal Zone, Black Warriors Basin, Alabama, Terry Wayne Bryant and Robert A. Gastaldo .......................................................... 506

3D Seismic and Reservoir Modeling, Ram Prospect, Viosca Knoll Block 912, Offshore Gulf of Mexico, Wayne Carew, Paul F. Ostendorf, and Glenn K. Krum .......................................................... 507

Palynofacies of Lignites and Associated Sediments in the Upper Paleocene Tuscahoma Sand of Southwestern Alabama and Eastern Mississippi, Richard E. Carroll .......................................................... 508

Environmental Concerns and Future Oil and Gas Developments in Coastal Wetlands of Louisiana, John J. Chacko, Brian J. Harder, and Charles G. Groat .......................................................... 509

Structural/Stratigraphic Reconstruction of Frontal “Choctaw” Triangle Zone Within Oklahoma Atoka-Trend – Early Controls (Pre-Thrusting) on Depositional of Deep Water Clastic Reservoirs, Dan Cox and Ron Foshee .......................................................... 510

Stratigraphic Framework of Inner Shelf Storm-Dominated Sand Ridges, Alabama EEZ: Implications For Sequence Stratigraphy, Global Climate Change, and Petroleum Exploration, David J. Davies and Steven J. Parker .......................................................... 511

Reservoir Characteristics of Two Minter Oil Sands Based on Continuous Core, E-Logs and Geochemical Data: Bee Brake Field, East Central Louisiana, John B. Echols, Donald A. Goddard, and Arnold Bouma .......................................................... 512

Structural Control of Adjacent Reefal and Incised Valley Complexes in the Neogene of the Southern Shelf Lagoon of Belize, Dominic Esker, Gregor Eberli, Donald McNeill and Michael Grammer .......................................................... 513

System Tract History Analysis: Key to Understanding Deposition in Cored Reservoir Analog Units on the Shelf, Richard H. Fillon .......................................................... 514

Correlation of Lignites in the Midway and Wilcox Groups of S. Alabama and E. Mississippi, Donald W. Harrison

3-D Seismic Benefits from Exploration through Development: An Exxon Perspective, M.G. Johnson, G.M. Gaskins, and S.M. Greenlee

Aventura Ranch Field: A Classic Stratigraphic Trap – James Lime – Van Zandt County, Texas, Al Jones and John T. Palmer

The Relationship Between Lithofacies and Contaminant Migration Pathways at a Site Contaminated with Heavy Metals, Michael S. Kline

Depositional Texture-Dependent and Independent Diagenetic Control of Petrophysical Properties, Norphlet Sandstone, Onshore and Offshore Alabama, Ralph L. Kugler

Heterogeneity in Mississippian Oil Reservoirs, Black Warrior Basin, Alabama: An Overview, Ralph L. Kugler, Jack C. Pashin, and G. Daniel Irvin

A Multi-Discipline Study Offshore Texas, Gulf of Mexico, John P. Land, Robert G. Behrman, Dale A. Bird, Charles E. Curtis, and Lawrence A. Jamison

Hydrocarbon Traps within Passive Margin Evolution of Louisiana, Dawn Lavoie and Allen Lowrie

The History, Development, and Regional Significance of Ruston Field, Joseph A. Lott

Geological Controls and Engineered Structures Relating to Erosion and Landloss in the Barataria Quadrangle of South-Central Louisiana, Rebecca K. Markel and Christopher P. Cameron

NPDES Permit Requirements in Gulf Coast Exploration and Production Areas, William J. Mundt

Recognizing Environmental Risks in Oil and Gas Property Acquisitions, William J. Mundt

Man-Mad and Natural Changes on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Stephen M. Oivanki, Barbara Yassin, and Jack S. Moody

Petrophysical Analysis of Sandstones using CT Scanning and Conventional Methods, J. M. Perez

Paluxy of the Central Basin – East Texas, Mark W. Presley

The Use of Non-Marine Palynomorphs as Correlation Tools in Rapidly-Deposited Late Tertiary Sediments of the Gulf of Mexico, Robert L. Ravn and Julie A. d’Ablanig

Eugene Island Block 330 Field, Offshore Louisiana: Geochemical Evidence for Active Hydrocarbon Recharging, Dietmar Schumacher

Surface Exploration in Mature Basins: Advances of the Eighties, Applications for the Nineties, Dietmar Schumacher

A Subsurface Study of the North Frisco City Field Monroe County, Alabama, Mark A. Stephenson, John G. Cox, Mike Harmount and Lawrence Bruno ................................................................. 535

Structural and Hydrological Parameters Modeling of Wilcox Group, Central Louisiana and Mississippi, Haiyan Zuo ................................................................. 536
