Table of Contents

| | |
|---|----|
| 1. Ergodynamics and Social Simulcra in Virtual Reality | 3 |
| 2. Conceptual Cyberspace Content | 4 |
| 3. Architecture and Simulated Environment | 5 |
| 4. Virtuality as a Paradigm of Problem Solving | 7 |
| 5. Cybertime and Dimensionality in Cyberspace Interface | 10 |
| 6. Natural Limits of Artificial Reality | 12 |
| 7. Building Design for Handicapped by Using Virtual Reality | 14 |
| 8. Uncolonizing History in Cyberspace | 16 |
| 9. The Digital Domains of Culture Where Computed Exploits Virtuality Happen | 17 |
| 10. Perceptualization Studies for Cyberspace Design | 18 |
| 11. Higher Dimensionality Structure in a Cyberspace Environment | 20 |
| 12. Complexity, Ambiguity and Learning in Fiberspace | 22 |
| 13. A Formal Foundation for Cyberspace | 24 |
| 14. Virtual Reality: Directions For Growth | 26 |
| 15. VRchitecture and Cychology: Toward a Synthesis of Design and Psychology in Cyberspace | 27 |
| 16. What is Virtual Space and Time? | 30 |
| 17. The Identity of Virtual Objects and Environments Editing | 32 |
| 18. The Cybersubject and Cinematic Being | 34 |
| 19. Deep Surfaces, Simultaneous Interiors, Cyberspace: The Combined Imagination of Futurism of Futurism and Decadence | 38 |
| 20. Cyberspace and Proprioceptive Coherence: A Proposal | 40 |
| 21. Seeing the World Through Word-Colored Glasses | 42 |
| 22. Physically-Based Modelling Techniques | 43 |
| 23. Random Thoughts on Virtual Reality | 44 |
| 24. Virtualizing the Ineffable | 45 |
| 25. Virtual Camcorders and Cyberstyles | 47 |
| 26. The Memory Engine and the Knowledge | 48 |
| 27. Afro-Semetic Influences in the History of Cyberspace | 50 |
| 28. The Forms of Cyberspace: Islands in the Net | 52 |
| 29. Artificial Intelligence in Cyberspace | 54 |
| 30. Microcosm and Cyberspace | 57 |
| 31. A Cyberspatial Data/Infospace: A Graphical/Descriptive Platform Discourse of a Future Medium | 58 |
| 33. The Phenomenology of Computer Supported Cooperative Work: Implications for Design of Cyberspace Work Environment | 60 |
| 34. From Virtual to Real: Military Fantasmatics and Technological Pragmatics: Virtual and the Pentagon | 61 |
| 35. Spectral Subjects, Simulacra and Cyberspace: Epistemological Lessons Drawn From Minitel | 62 |
| 36. Realizing Virtual Reality | 63 |
| 37. The Metaphysics of Virtual Reality | 66 |
| 38. Plague on the Electronic Frontier | 68 |
| 39. Wiring up with Nanotechnology | 69 |
| 40. Braided Realities: Problems of Integration, Management, and Interactions | 70 |
| 41. What Can We Learn From Prince Henry The Navigator About Exploring and Mapping and Virtual Reality | 71 |
| 42. Cyberspace the Normative Medium | 73 |
| 43. Cyberspace as Canvas | 75 |
| 44. Virtual Space Conferencing | 76 |
| 45. Methods and Ethics for the Design of Virtual Reality | 77 |

| | |
|---|------|
| 46. Cyberspace: a Wedding | 79 |
| 47. A Cynic in Cyberspace | 80 |
| 48. Enhanced Reality | 82 |
| 49. A Cyberspace Model for Narrative Affect: Virtual Realism | 84 |
| 50. Cyberspace and the Law | 86 - |
| 51. "Personal and Social Implications in Early Implementation of Cyberspace," or "Why I Cried When My RPG Character Almost Died" | 88 |
| 52. The Virtual Wheel-Chair: Overcoming Real Barriers with Cyberspace Technology | 90 |
| 53. Identity and Mask in Virtual Reality | 92 |
| 54. Art and Artistry in Telepresence | 93 |
| 55. Mediated Improv Installation | 95 |
| 56. Tokyo Dreamspace: Parable for Telepresence | 96 |
| 57. Artifact and Artiface: The Concrete Exploration of Abstract Spaces | 97 |
| 58. Managing Complexity in a Virtual World | 98 |
| 59. Who Owns The User the User Interface? | 99 |
| 60. The Virtual Village On The Edge of Cyberspace | 101 |
| 61. Semion-- A Symbol for Release Information | 103 |
| 62. Glass Onion | 105 |
| 63. Is Sacred Architecture Feasible Within Virtual Reality? | 108 |
| 64. Cyberspace Colonies | 110 |
| 65. Virtual Reality and Habitat Design: Research Into the Possibilities of Applying Virtual Reality To The Exploration of Space Representation | 112 |
| 66. Some Visual Considerations in the Rendering of Virtual Spaces | 114 |
| 67. The Fractal Geometry of Cyberspace | 116 |
| 68. Abstraction and Artifacts in Cyberspace: Getting Real | 118 |
| 69. Entities in Cyberspace: Intelligent Organization in Cyberspace Sector B-2745 | 119 |
| 70. A Brief, Irrational History of Cyberspace | 121 |
| 71. Things to Remember about Virtual Reality | 123 |
| 72. Virtuality Technologies as a Representational Form | 125 |
| 73. The NAU Solar System Simulation | 126 |
| 74. Surgical Simulation from Flights of Fantasy to Virtual Reality | 128 |
| 75. Cyberspace: Utopian Workspaces in a Dyspian World? | 129 |
| 76. The Design of Computer-Based Non-Tools for Problematization | 131 |
| 77. Imaginary of Hyperreal | 133 |
| 78. Who Needs Reality In Cyberspace? | 134 |
| 79. Virtual Reality and EXCITE | 136 |
| 80. Supercomputers: The Generating Stations for Virtual Reality | 137 |
| 81. Cyberspace and the Corporation | 138 |
| 82. Sexual Futures: Human Sexuality in Cyberspace | 141 |
| 83. Jazz Improvization as a Model for CSCW in Cyberspace | 143 |
| 84. Considerations on our Fascination with Cyberspace Vs. Our Abuse of Real Space: Potential Role for Cyberspace in Improving Real Space | 145 |
| 85. The Application of Virtuality Technologies to Aid in the Revitalization of the U.S. Manufacturing Industry | 147 |
| 86. Modernism, McLuhan, and the Evolution of Cyberspace | 148 |
| 87. Media, Text and Communication: The Arts and Everyday Culture | 150 |
| 88. Toward Virtual Realities: A Biocybernetic View of Communication Media of the 21st Century | 152 |
| 89. A Unified Cyberspace/Hypermedia Environment | 153 |
| 90. Power, Force, and Technophilic Bodies: Technologies of Observation and the Construction of Virtual Identities for the Twenty-first Century | 155 |
| 91. Informal Interaction in Virtual Space | 156 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| 92. To The Evolution of Socially-Responsible Location-Based Multi-User Interactive Entertainment: A Study Investigating Assets of Collaborative Learning As Potential Design Elements to a Proposed "Cyberspace" Environment | 157 |
| 93. Virtual Reality on 5 Dollars a Day: Artistic Practice in and around Emerging Technologies | 158 |
| 94. Reflections on the Actuary in Cyberspace | 160 |
| 95. Toy Box | 162 |
| 96. Automatic Icons: Representation for Semantic Spaces | 163 |
| 97. Socially Constructed Information Spaces as an Art Form: Challenges in the Design of Cyberspace | 167 |
| 98. Cybercity: Cognition of Image in the Inhabited Realm | 168 |
