Contents

Developments in mechanised tunnelling for future purposes
Bernhard Maidl, Dieter Handke & Ulrich Maidl

Developments in conventional tunnelling
Hans-Jürgen Bösch

The safety concept for construction of the 4th Tube of the Elbe Tunnel in Hamburg
Rolf Bielecki & Rolf Berger

How to reduce damages to lining segments through design changes in shield tunnelers
Reiner Naujoks

Robot for tunnelling by a pinpoint breaking-up machine
Servaüs Hick

FATIMA – increased tunneling results with computerised equipment at the most northern road tunneling project in the world
Ingrid D. Hovland

The region of East Asia – A challenge to the construction industry and machinery manufacturers
Walter Dietz

Challenges in tunnel engineering in Southeast Asia
Helmut Bretz

Experiences with hard rock shielded TBMs in special conditions
Gusztáv Klados

S103 Sydney Southern Railway Subway
Ph. Dumont

The Sewer Glatt at Zürich – Example of a convertible shield machine
Claus Becker

Heavy-duty roadheaders used for subway tunnelling in the cities of Nürnberg and Fürth
Gerhard Groß

Marseille Tunnel
Dominique Settini, Guy Cueille & John Glynn

VII
Modern work safety and health protection: A European challenge for tunnelling in the future
Manfred Bandmann & Walter Chromy

Implementation of European Community directives 89/392/EEC and 92/57/EEC in the UK
Donald R. Lamont