Managing natural disasters
A. Klinke & O. Renn

Comparison of accidents related to lack of training
R. B. Ward

Health related risks

The structure of risk perception in the health area: A cross-cultural survey
R. Martinez-Arias, A. Prades, L. Arranz & M. T. Macías

The second paradigm shift in preventive medicine
S. O. Hansson

Computer technology for health risk estimation and management
K. L. Atoyev & V. O. Rykhtovsky

Health risk analysis: Some directions of R&D and practical use in Russia
V. F. Demin

Integration of safety, health and human activities into design

Contributions and limitations of standardization with respect to automated system design
A. Didelot, E. Fadier & J. Ciccotelli

Analysis of deviated modes for risk assessment
P. Polet & F. Vanderhaegen

Representation and evaluation of risks during the design phase of a complex system
R. Hasan, J. Ciccotelli, A. Bernard & P. Martin

Risk regulation

Risk regulation and ‘opinion-responsive government’
H. Rothstein, C. Hood, C. Hall & R. Baldwin

Prototype methodology for improving targeting of interventions at SMEs
J. Niewoehner & S. P. Gerrard

Transboundary risk management in Europe
J. Linnerooth-Bayer, R. Löfstedt & G. Sjöstedt

The development of appropriate risk assessment techniques for the New Zealand industrial, legal and cultural framework
G. R. P. Bermingham

Problems and prospects of risk minimization in Russian ownership transformation
K. A. Feofanov & I. V. Feofanova

Risk criteria

Societal risk criteria – Possible futures
P. J. Floyd & D. J. Ball
Infrastructure safety assessment – The Hong Kong approach
M. Starling

An analysis of the valuation of a human life
J. K. Vrijling & P. H. A. J. M. van Gelder

Determination of ALARP in conditions of uncertainty
J. D. Rimington & V. M. Trbojevic

Precautionary principle

Risk versus precaution: A false dichotomy
G. Charnley & E. D. Elliott

Interpreting the precautionary principle – Political versus legal perspectives
W. van den Daele

Applying precautionary principles: A conceptual framework
P. G. Bennett

Operationalising the precautionary principle – The health and safety executive’s precautionary approach
L. Golob & J. Le Guen

Management of consumer product safety: The roles of risk assessment and precaution
W. E. Bishop, C. A. Pittinger & K. A. Kohrman

Maintenance management

Bridging the gap between RCM – Methodology and reliability theory
H. Kortner & A. Kjellsen

Determination of a cost optimal, predetermined maintenance schedule
H. J. Thevik

Implementation of an integrated approach to the management of maintenance of in-service plant
I. E. Morris & A. J. Landi

Finding optimal repair and maintenance strategies by a combined genetic algorithm – Monte Carlo approach
M. Marseguerra & E. Zio

Monte Carlo evaluation of corrective and preventive maintenance strategies
M. Marseguerra & E. Zio

Simulation and evaluation of condition-based maintenance policies for multi-component continuous-state deteriorating systems
C. Béreguer, A. Grall & B. Castanier

Assessing the maintenance in the UK water industry: A case study
J. Ansell, T. Archibald, J. Dagpunar, L. Thomas, P. Abell & D. Duncalf
Anticipating accidents that have not happened yet: A quantitative approach and airline maintenance application
E.Pate-Cornell & M.Sachon

Structural reliability
Stress-strength interactions – Part I: Model formulations
D.N.P.Murthy & M.Rausand
Stochastic stress-life models
D.N.P.Murthy & L.C.Tang

Data collection, use etc.
Science and EU policies: Uncertainty and risk management
S.O.Funtowicz, I.M.Shepherd, D.R.Wilkinson & J.Ravetz
Eliciting prior distributions for potential system faults from correlated experts
J.Quigley, L.Walls & R.Hodge
An event based database for the support of a holistic reliability assessment tool
J.Jones & J.Marshall

Human factors
Making HRA a more consistent science
R.Kennedy, B.Kirwan, R.Summersgill & K.Rea
A methodology for incorporating human factors in risk analysis of industrial systems
K.T.Kosmowski & M.Kwiesielewicz
Validation of HRA techniques – Déjà vu five years on?
R.Kennedy, B.Kirwan, R.Summersgill & K.Rea
Benchmarking human and organisational factors in offshore safety
K.Mearns, R.H.Flin, R.Gordon & P.O’Connor
Human error analysis in ship operations
Y.G.Liu, A.D.Wall & J.Wang
Dependency assessment of human actions in the QRA of ammonia storage facility

Session by the human factors in reliability group
Reducing errors of violation
S.Mason
Improving maintenance through reducing human error
G.P.Gibson
Proving a new event management system: Incident management in the water industry
J.Berman & I.Gray
Effective shift handover
R.Lardner

Organisational aspects of safety management
Managing risk in nuclear decommissioning
A.C.Fryer & R.S.Nash
Management of change
B.R.Martin
Risk perception as a management tool
B.R.Orton, B-M.Drottz-Sjöberg & S.Morris
From stately home to mountainside: Achieving acceptable risk for the visitor
M.W.Barrett
Divided we fail? The UK rail industry in the light of normal accident theory
G.P.Smith & E.P.Borodzicz
Human factors in radiation safety and nuclear waste: Knowledge of radiation protection by specialists
I.A.Zykova & G.V.Arkhanguelskaia

Safety management – Certification
Certification of occupational health and safety management systems
M.P.Cottam
A proactive and holistic approach to occupational safety and health: The Lucent Technologies Microelectronics Group Safety Management System
T.Polakowski & M.Santarelli
Practical implementation of safety management systems
S.Bradley & J.Priddle
BS8800 certification – DMUK’s experience
D.C.Bourne

Marine safety
Risk based methodology for a vessel safety management system
V.M.Trbojevic & C.Guedes-Soares
Safety assessment of loading/offloading activities for floating production storage and offloading units
C.Vivalda & F.Merlier
On a seagoing ship operation process modelling
A.Brandowski & K.Kołowrocki
Consequence model for ship accidents
M.P.Lehmann & E.Sørgård
