Redesigning a Course Using an Analysis of Technical Problems Encountered in an Online Technology Training Course ............................................ 53
Jason Abbitt, Mitchell Klett, Scott Graves, University of Idaho, USA

e-Learning and Knowledge Management: the MEMORAE project .......................... 61
Marie-Hélène Abel, Dominique Lenne, Omar Cissé, UMR CNRS 6599 Heudiasyc, France

Experimenting with Mobile Learning in a University Environment .......................... 67
Harri Alamaki, Radiolinja, Finland; Pauliina Seppala, Educational Centre for ICT, University of Helsinki, Finland

Instructional Models and Scenarios for an Open Learning Repository - Instructional Design and Metadata ................................................................. 75
Heidrun Allert, Learning Lab Lower Saxony, Germany; Hadhami Dhraief, Tobias Kunze, University of Hanover, Germany; Wolfgang Nejdl, Christoph Richter, Learning Lab Lower Saxony, Germany

Cognitive Styles and Medical Students' Learning .................................................. 83
Zahra AlRawahi, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman

The Usability of the Virtual Hospital Round ......................................................... 91
Zahra AlRawahi, Saleh Shidhani, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman

Miguel Baptista Nunes, Maggie McPherson, Amy Whiteside, University of Sheffield, UK

Verifying Success in Distance Education .................................................................. 104
William Barber, Heather Clark, Elaine McIntyre, Appalachian State University, USA

Architecture of an E-Learning System with Embedded Authoring Support ................. 110
Andreas Baudry, University of Hamburg, Dep. of Informatics, IMA Lab, Germany

Education Network of Ontario: Content/Curriculum Models for the Internet-connected Classroom .................................................................................. 117
Mary Beam, Education Network of Ontario, Canada

The Changing Role of Instructors in Distance Education: Impact on Tool Support .......... 123
Anke Biedebach, Birgit Bomsdorf, Gunter Schlageter, FernUniversität Hagen, Germany

Virtual University of Applied Sciences - German Flagship Projects in the Field of E-Learning in Higher Education ......................................................... 131
Michael Bischoff, Fachhochschule Lübeck, Germany
The New Paideia .............................................................................................................. 138
Raj Boora, University of Alberta, Canada

Knowledge as Relationship and E-learning .................................................................. 144
Luca Botturi, USI-ICeF, Switzerland

A software tool for developing critical judgments about student writing ..................... 152
Roger Bruning, Mary Bodvarsson, Michael Dempsey, Christy Horn, University of Nebraska - Lincoln, USA

A Framework for Adaptive E-Learning Based on Distributed Re-usable Learning Activities... 154
Peter Brusilovsky, Hemanta Nijhavan, University of Pittsburgh, USA

Perceived Organizational Climate and Internet Self-Efficacy: Identifying the Best Climate to Promote E-Learning ................................................................. 162
Dale Burnett, University of Lethbridge, Canada

Distance Education Quality: The Resources—Practices—Results Cycle and the Standards .... 168
Cathy Cavanaugh, University of North Florida, USA

Thinking Outside the Circle: the Design of Face-to-Face Collaborative Learning facilities .... 174
Robert Cavenagh, Dickinson College, USA

A Case and Implications of Implementing and Evaluating an Online Virtual Learning Community Environment .......................................................................................... 181
Chi-Cheng Chang, National Taipei University of Technology, Taiwan

Assessing the Usability of MOA Interface Designs ....................................................... 189
Yaowen Chang, Columbia University, USA

Ethical Issues in E-learning: Insights from the Application of Stakeholder Analysis in three e-Learning Cases ................................................................. 196
Nancy Pouloudi, Athens University of Economics & Business, Greece; Polyneikis Chozos, Athens University of Economics and Business, Greece; Miltiaidis Lytras, Athens University of Economics & Business, Greece

Science Education in the Web Era .................................................................................. 204
Leon Combs, Kennesaw State Univesity, USA

Towards a Standards-based Approach to e-Learning Personalization using Reusable Learning Objects ....................................................................................... 210
Owen Conlan, Declan Dagger, Vincent Wade, Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland

A New Tool for Managing Students Self-Evaluations in Traditional and Distance Education Courses ................................................................................................. 218
Juan Contreras-Castillo, Arthur Edwards Block, Universidad de Colima, Mexico

Considerations for Building a Common Platform for Cooperative and Collaborative Authoring Environments ................................................................. 224
Alexandra Cristea, Technical University of Eindhoven, Netherlands

ODL Education Environments based on Adaptivity and Adaptability ............................. 232
Alexandra Cristea, Technical University Eindhoven, Netherlands

AHA! Version 2.0, More Adaptation Flexibility for Authors ............................................... 240
Ad Aerts, David Smits, Natalia Stash, Paul De Bra, Eindhoven University of Technology, Netherlands

Group and Task Experience: Implications for Computer-Mediated Groupwork in the Workplace ................................................................................................. 247
Christina Dehler, Cal Poly Pomona, USA

Evaluation of a High-end Distance Delivery MBA Program ........................................... 254
Dennis Dicks, Concordia University, Canada

Developing Online Emergency Room Case Study Role Play For Medical Students .......... 262
Gilles Doiron, National University of Singapore, Singapore

Evaluating assessment using n-dimensional filtering ....................................................... 268
Jon Dron, Chris Boyne, University of Brighton, UK; Richard Mitchell, Inferdata Corp., USA

A Framework for Evaluation & Selection of E-Learning Solutions .................................. 275
Deniz Eseryel, Syracuse University / IDD&E, USA

Supporting E-Knowledge-building in teacher education: The use of computer-mediated-communication ................................................................. 283
Brian Ferry, University of Wollongong, Australia
