LIST OF PAPERS

Opening Addresses

The implementation of the Baltech Consortium’s Master Study Programme in industrial engineering and management at Kaunas University of Technology, J. Dulevičius, R.T. Toločka & P. Žiliukas, Kaunas University of Technology, Kaunas, Lithuania (Opening Address)

Innovations in European engineering education, A.V. Valiulis, Vilnius Gediminas Technical University, Vilnius, Lithuania (Opening Address)

New trends and approaches to engineering education

Challenges in computer mathematics in engineering education, D. Schott, Hochschule Wismar – University of Technology, Business and Design, Wismar, Germany (Lead Paper)

Compatibility problems between aviation university study programmes and the European aviation standards and innovations, D. Ereminas, A. Jakucionis, E. Lasauskas, R. Malinauskas & J. Stankūnas, Vilnius Gediminas Technical University, Vilnius, Lithuania

The importance of reflection skills for the modern engineer, M.J. Riemer, Monash University, Melbourne, Australia

Quality issues and improvements in engineering education

Reflections on the accreditation process in Polish technical universities, S. Markusikt, C. Sajdak† & Z.J. Pudlowskit, Silesian University of Technology, Gliwice, Poland†, Monash University, Melbourne, Australia† (Lead Paper)

A complex evaluation of the work productivity of university teaching staff, R. Ginevičius, V. Podvezko & V.B. Ginevičienė, Vilnius Gediminas Technical University, Vilnius, Lithuania

A model of certification and the mutual recognition of managerial and linguistic skills in construction engineering according to the requirements of the European Union, A. Minasowicz, P. Nowak & J. Zawistowski, Warsaw University of Technology, Warsaw, Poland

Total Quality Management in higher education institutions: how to not only teach it, but also live up to it, M. Soosaipillai, M.E. Monstad & M. Grahl-Madsen, Bergen University College, Bergen, Norway

Issues in the accreditation and quality assurance of engineering courses in the Asia-Pacific region, A.S. Patil & Z.J. Pudlowski, Monash University, Melbourne, Australia

Specific engineering education programmes

Engineering communication, J. Dulevičius & L. Naginevičienė, Kaunas University of Technology, Kaunas, Lithuania (Lead Paper)

The development of automation, electronics and telecommunication studies, K.V. Maceika & R. Rinkeviciene, Vilnius Gediminas Technical University, Vilnius, Lithuania

A study of the integrated problem-solving teaching strategy in a mechanical engineering drawing course, F-S. Chen† & Y-M. Ling†, National Changhua University of Education, Changhua, Taiwan†, National Taichung Industrial High School, Taichung, Taiwan†

Preparing air traffic control specialists by estimating unmanned air vehicles integration in airspace, D. Žiliene & J. Stankūnas, Vilnius Gediminas Technical University, Vilnius, Lithuania

Towards greater efficiency in international activities: benchmarking and the evaluation of bilateral cooperation, A. Pelediene & A. Radzeviciene, Vilnius Gediminas Technical University, Vilnius, Lithuania

Innovation and alternatives in engineering education

Active learning at Kaunas University of Technology, R.V. Krivickas, Kaunas University of Technology, Kaunas, Lithuania (Lead Paper)

An innovative Bachelor-Master programme in engineering with polyvalent degrees, H. Pfeifert, W. Reicht & U. Ritterbach†, Fachhochschule Offenburg, University of Applied Sciences, Offenburg, Germany†, Pädagogische Hochschule Freiburg, University of Education, Freiburg, Germany†

Difficulties and challenges encountered by supplementary vocational high schools in Taiwan, F-S. Chen & S-P. Chiu, National Changhua University of Education, Changhua, Taiwan

Pedagogy of sustained design and associated assessments, P. Vohra & R. Kasuba, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, United States of America

PhysBeans: a toolkit to simplify the construction of applets for physics simulation, P. Junglas, Private Fachhochschule für Wirtschaft und Technik Vechta/Diepholz - Private University of Applied Sciences, Vechta/Diepholz, Germany
Important issues and challenges in engineering education

A study on the enterprises appraised in alternative cooperative education at vocational high schools in Taiwan, F-S. Chen & S-P. Chiu, National Changhua University of Education, Changhua, Taiwan (Lead Paper)

The elimination of obstacles to student mobility in engineering education, A. Radzeviciene, Vilnius Gediminas Technical University, Vilnius, Lithuania

A study of the factors influencing organisational innovation in Taiwan's senior vocational high schools, F-S. Chen, H-M. Hsu, M-C. Lin & J-C. Wu, National Changhua University of Education, Changhua, Taiwan

Conflicting experts, R.B. Ward, University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia

Case studies

Academic practice abroad: a case study of Hochschule Wismar and the HEPS Tarnów, A. Lisowska-List†, E. Wojciechowska†, S.A. Mitkowski†, Z.J. Pudlowski* & N. Grünwald, Higher Education Professional School, Tarnów, Poland†, University of Mining & Metallurgy, Kraków, Poland†, Monash University, Melbourne, Australia*, Hochschule Wismar - University of Technology, Business and Design, Wismar, Germany (Lead Paper)

A study of the learning effectiveness of the Microprocessor Practice course using goal orientation learning in electrical engineering at a vocational high school, F-S. Chen, H-M. Hsu, M-C. Lin & J-C. Wu, National Da-Hu Agricultural & Industrial Vocational High School, Miaoli, Taiwan

Mathematics in engineering education, A. Kalapodi, C. Mitropoulou & G. Kabouridis, Technological Educational Institute of Patras, Patras, Greece

Globalising environmental engineering education, D.Q. Nguyen & Z.J. Pudlowski, Monash University, Melbourne, Australia

The freshman engineer: Problem-Based Learning as implemented at Bergen University College, S.O. Opdahl, M.E. Monstad & M. Grahl-Madsen, Bergen University College, Bergen, Norway
