

Opening Standards

The Global Politics of Interoperability

Laura DeNardis, editor

The MIT Press
Cambridge, Massachusetts
London, England

Contents

Introduction: Global Controversies over Open Standards vii
Laura DeNardis

I The Politics of Interoperability 1

1 Injecting the Public Interest into Internet Standards 3
John B. Morris Jr.

2 The Government at the Standards Bazaar 13
Stacy Baird

3 Governments, the Public Interest, and Standards Setting 33
D. Linda Garcia

4 Securing the Root 45
Brenden Kuerbis and Milton Mueller

5 Open Document Standards for Government: The South African Experience 63
Andrew Rens

II Standards, Innovation, and Development Economics 73

6 An Economic Basis for Open Standards 75
Rishab Ghosh

7 Open Innovation and Interoperability 97
Nicos L. Tsilas

8 Standards, Trade, and Development 119
John S. Wilson

III Standards-Based Intellectual Property Debates	133
9 Questioning Copyright in Standards	135
Pamela Samuelson
10 Constructing Legitimacy: The W3C's Patent Policy	159
Andrew L. Russell
11 Common and Uncommon Knowledge: Reducing Conflict between Standards and Patents	177
Brian Kahin
IV Interoperability and Openness	191
12 ICT Standards Setting Today: A System under Stress	193
Andrew Updegrave
13 Software Standards, Openness, and Interoperability	209
Robert S. Sutor
14 Open Standards: Definition and Policy	219
Ken Krechmer
List of Contributors	239
Index	247