New Urbanism
Life, Work, and Space in the New Downtown

Edited by

ILSE HELBRECHT
Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin, Germany

PETER DIRKSMIEIER
Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin, Germany

ASHGATE
Contents

List of Figures vii
List of Tables ix
Acknowledgements xi

1 New Downtowns: A New Form of Centrality and Urbanity in World Society 1
Ilse Helbrecht and Peter Dirksmeier

2 Planning Urbanity – A Contradiction in Terms? 23
Loretta Lees

3 Public Spaces for the 21st Century 39
Jan Gehl

4 Waterfront Redevelopment: Global Processes and Local Contingencies in Vancouver’s False Creek 47
David Ley

5 Planning for Creativity: The Transformation of the Amsterdam Eastern Docklands 61
Robert Kloosterman

6 From the Old Downtown to the New Downtown: The Case of the South Boston Waterfront 85
Susanne Heeg

7 Grasping, Creating and Commercialising Trends, Styles and ‘Zeitgeist’: The Role of Urbanity with Regard to Working in Flexible, Specialised Project Networks as Illustrated by the Media Industry 107
Ivo Mossig

8 Major Town Planning Projects in Urban Renaissance: Structuring Property Sales for Future Urbanity? 121
Maike Dziomba
Neighbourliness in the City Centre: Reality and Potential in the Case of the Hamburg HafenCity
Ingrid Breckner and Marcus Menzl

Assessment of the Effects of the Built Environment for the Organisation of Social Processes
Thomas Perry

Can Urbanity be Planned? Comments on the Development of Public Spaces in the HafenCity of Hamburg
Claus-C. Wiegandt

The Virtue of Diversity
Rolf Lindner

Index