Don Passey
Andreas Breiter
Adrie Visscher (Eds.)

Next Generation of Information Technology in Educational Management

10th IFIP WG 3.7 Conference, ITEM 2012
Bremen, Germany, August 5-8, 2012
Revised Selected Papers
Table of Contents

Part I: Why Do We Need New Educational Management Information Systems?

The Effects of Training School Staff for Utilizing Student Monitoring System Data .................................................. 3
  Laura Staman, Adrie J. Visscher, and Hans Luyten

At the Heart of the Next Generation of Information Technology in Educational Management: Data Driven Discussion for Decision Making .................................................. 15
  Don Passey

The Use of Data across Countries: Development and Application of a Data Use Framework .................................. 27
  Kim Schildkamp, Louisa Karbautzki, Andreas Breiter, Małgorzata Marciniak, and David Ronka

Part II: What Issues Do Those Developing New Educational Management Information System Face?

Computer-Based Large-Scale Assessments in Germany ....................... 41
  Andreas Breiter, Lea Maria Groß, and Emese Stauke

What Needs to Be Done for Successful E-Assessment Implementations? ................................................................. 55
  Elif Tanrikulu

Investigation of the Knowledge Management Process of Schools in Turkey ................................................................. 67
  Cevat Celep and Tuğba Konaklı

Knowledge Management in University Administration in Malaysia ...... 76
  Roshayu Mohamad, Karen Manning, and Arthur Tatnall

Socio-technical Gaps Exposed by the United States Department of Education’s Teacher Incentive Fund Grant Program .......... 86
  Christopher A. Thorn

Monitoring User Patterns in School Information Systems Using Logfile Analysis ....................................................... 94
  Arne Hendrik Schulz and Andreas Breiter
Part III: What New Educational Management Information Systems Are Being Developed?

Data Sharing between Local and National Governments for the Benefit of the Citizen: Online Free School Meals as a Transformational Project ................................................................. 107
   Alan Strickley

Refurbishment Informational School Architecture: A Base to an Educational Information Service ...................................................... 119
   António Castro and Leonel Duarte dos Santos

Finding a School Technological Partner: A Multi-criteria Method for School Information System Producer Selection ......................... 131
   Teresa Pereira and António Castro

Reorganization and IT Implementation in Campus Management: The Project “PuL” at RWTH Aachen University ........................................ 142
   Marcel Lämmerhirt, Marguerite Franssen, and Christoph Becker

Part IV: What Educational Management Information Systems Are Already in Place?

Educational Management Systems in Secondary Education in Hordaland County, Norway: Positional Paper ................................. 151
   Dale Casey

The Ultranet and School Management: Creating a New Management Paradigm for Education ......................................................... 163
   Arthur Tatnall and Bill Davey

Pupils’ Data: Implementing a Management Information System to Optimise Planning in Berlin Schools ............................................ 171
   Anne Gregor, Michael Wilmes, and Christian Kiock

Author Index .................................................................................. 177