Contents

List of Illustrations
ix
Acknowledgements
xxiii

Introduction: Advolution
1

0.1. Why and What Theory?
0.1.1. An experimental theory of design-research
0.1.2. A speculative theory of volution(s)
0.1.3. A propositional theory of convolution
0.2. Why and What Digital?
0.2.1. The postcyber, postvirtual paradigm
0.2.2. The postliquid paradigm
0.2.3. The postdigital paradigm
0.3. Why and What Poetics?
0.3.1. Poetics, not poetry
0.3.2. Academic poetics
0.3.3. The poetic image and poetic capacity

1 Devolution
33

1.1. The Authoritarian Architect
1.1.1. Child of practice and theory
1.1.2. Armed at all points
1.1.3. Doing the thinking vs. thinking the doing
1.2. The Modern Model
1.2.1. Character, composition
1.2.2. Durand’s doctrine
1.2.3. Engineering the architect
1.3. The Authored Model
1.3.1. The grid in the loop
1.3.2. Morphing away from the constructive diagram
1.3.3. Typology, volution, properties
2 Evolution
  2.1. Utensil
    2.1.1. Phenomenal thing
    2.1.2. Irrational tool analogy
    2.1.3. 'Philosophical toy'
  2.2. Machine
    2.2.1. Passion, deception
    2.2.2. Automata, robots
    2.2.3. The modern machine
  2.3. Computer
    2.3.1. Postfunctional computing
    2.3.2. Postpersonal computing
    2.3.3. Postorganic computing

3 Involution
  3.1. Involvement/Mediation
    3.1.1. Interfaces/intrafaces
    3.1.2. Software agency
    3.1.3. Contemplation/poetic distance
  3.2. Penetration
    3.2.1. Photopoetics
    3.2.2. Magic/surgery
    3.2.3. Protodigitality
  3.3. Domestication
    3.3.1. Gendered other
    3.3.2. Castrated pet
    3.3.3. Acquiescent soft toy

4 Revolution
  4.1. Performance
    4.1.1. Digital mimesis
    4.1.2. Deception/fantasy
    4.1.3. Meaning/information
  4.2. Production
    4.2.1. Metareproduction
    4.2.2. CADemiurgy
    4.2.3. Interdimensionality
  4.3. Reflections
    4.3.1. Reflection (mirror image)
    4.3.2. Reflections (contemplation)
    4.3.3. Reflex (poetic automatism/digital bliss)
CONTENTS

Conclusion: Deconvolution  211

Bibliography  217
Index  233