THE GYPSIES IN SWEDEN

A Socio-Medical Study

by John Takman
with the assistance of Lars Lindgren

LiberFörlag . Stockholm 1976
Contents

PREFACE 9

1 PROBLEMS AND PROCEDURES 16
   The survey population 16
   The objectives 16
   A note on the study of environmental conditions 17
   Forms and folders 19
   Making contacts 20
   Interviewing and examining 23
   Initiatives for rapid change 27
   The Gypsy reference system 27
   Checking the interview-obtained data 28
   Documentary material 30
   Finding the Gypsies 31
   The lapses 32
   Definitions and classifications 33
   Data processing 35

2 THE GYPSIES IN SWEDEN 38
   An historical sketch 38
   The Gypsies as an isolate 39
   Swedish and foreign Gypsies 40
   The “tattare” concept 44
   Nomadic ways 46
   Marriage practices 46
   Anthropology 51
   Demography 53

3 HOUSING CONDITIONS 62
   Review of previous surveys 64
   Swedish housing in the past 64
REFERENCES 167

FIGURES
Map 2—1. All examined Swedish Gypsies 15 years and over by county of birth 48
Fig. 2—1. Population pyramids of the Swedish Gypsy population 55
Fig. 2—2. A graphic representation of the infant mortality in the total Swedish population and in the Swedish Gypsy population 56
Fig. 6—1. Percentage of children born in maternity hospitals during the period 1916—1965, for the Swedish Gypsy population and the total Swedish population 99
Chart 9—1. Percentages of males who had full-time, stable employment at conventional Swedish occupations 138
Chart 9—2. Percentages of males who had full-time, stable employment at conventional Swedish occupations, when the unemployed are excluded 143
Chart 9—3. Percentages of males who are gainfully employed 145

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS
Between pages 32 and 33
A Gypsy retinner
A Gypsy camp in Stockholm, 1963
The last Gypsy tent in Sweden
“We want to go to school”

Between pages 96 and 97
Zima and Bachero Taikumer
One-family houses built by the National Labor Market Board for Gypsy families