Contents

Foreword ................................................. 9
Acknowledgements ....................................... 11
Introduction to the island of anthropology ............... 13

MEDIEVAL CLASSIFICATION .............................. 23
Cosmology and society in medieval Iceland: a social anthropological perspective on world-view .............. 25
Kinship in medieval Iceland .............................. 44
Classification and demography in medieval Iceland ....... 59

CULTURAL IDENTIFICATION ............................... 67
Establishing an ethnicity: the emergence of the »Icelanders« in the early Middle Ages ............................ 69
'Defining a society: the Icelandic Freestate between two worlds .................. 83
'Creating a nation: nationalist trends in 18th and 19th century Iceland .................. 103
Finding oneself in history: the cultural construction of Icelandic identity ................. 123

LITERATURE AND SOCIETY ................................. 137
Text and context: continuity and change in medieval Icelandic history as ‘said’ and ‘laid down’ .......... 139
Tracing tradition – an anthropological perspective on Grettis saga Ásmundarsonar .......... 154
Literacy and morality: cultural deconstruction in Iceland 1400–1800 .......................... 184

HISTORICAL MOVEMENT ................................ 201
Tristes entropiques: Christianity and social disorder in Iceland ............ 203
The meaning of migration: Icelandic migratory patterns in historical perspective ........... 218
Witchcraft in 17th century Iceland ........................ 233