Danish Towns during Absolutism

Urbanisation and Urban Life 1660-1848

Edited by
Søren Bitsch Christensen & Jørgen Mikkelsen

The Danish Centre for Urban History

Aarhus University Press
Contents

Preface 9

Introduction 11
Søren Bitsch Christensen & Jørgen Mikkelsen

Danish towns as economic agents in the market town system, ca. 1600-1850 45
Søren Bitsch Christensen

Town development and urban population in the Danish Kingdom, ca. 1620-1680 – From prosperity to crisis 97
Ole Degn

Copenhagen – The capital of an empire 133
Michael Bregnsbo

The towns of the Duchy of Schleswig, ca. 1700-1850
– A regional variant of Danish market town history 153
Lars N. Henningsen

The garrison town during Absolutism, 1660-1849 183
Karsten Skjold Petersen

Community and ‘zünftig’ culture in Danish craft guilds 213
Thomas Bloch Ravn

The seaports of the Kingdom and their shipping trade, 1660-1850 237
Anders Monrad Møller

Market town agriculture 263
Trine Locht Elkjær
The early contours of a Danish industrial city – Danish towns between the pre-industrial and the industrial period, ca. 1800-1850  291
Henrik Harnow

Copenhagen poor relief and the problem of poverty, ca. 1500-1800  325
Peter Henningsen

Poor relief in provincial towns in the Kingdom of Denmark and the Duchy of Schleswig, ca. 1700-1850  365
Jørgen Mikkelsen

Urban schools, 1537-1850  411
Christian Larsen

Stadsmusikanter and urban culture in the Danish empire during the Absolute monarchy  433
Jens Henrik Koudal

Enlightenment in the provinces – The patriotic societies in the towns and country of the Danish state  457
Juliane Engelhardt

Danish vocabulary  487

Illustrations  493

The authors  497

Index of towns and places  501