Care Work in Crisis

Reclaiming the Nordic Ethos of Care

EDITED BY SIRPA WREDE
LEA HENRIKSSON
HÅKON HØST
STINA JOHANSSON
BETINA DYBBROE

Studentlitteratur
Contents

LIST OF TABLES 9

CONTRIBUTORS 11

FOREWORD 13

INTRODUCTION 15
Care Work and the Competing Rationalities of Public Policy

Sirpa Wrede, Lea Henriksson, Håkon Høst, Stina Johansson and Betina Dybbroe

Historical and structural affinity: the Nordic context 17

A Nordic ethos of care: an ambiguous history 23

The rationality of efficiency 25

Education as a strategy for regulating care 28

Care work in crisis 30

Aim and scope 31

References 33

---

PART I DENMARK

INTRODUCTION TO PART I 41

Crisis of Care in a Learning Perspective

Betina Dybbroe

Changes in politics of care 42

Professionalisation and deprofessionalisation in care work 44

Crisis of quality and the declining interest in care work 45

Learning in care 46

References 48

ONE 49

A Crisis of Learning, Professional Knowledge and Welfare in Care

Betina Dybbroe

Recruitment crisis—a symptom 51

A qualification strategy for welfare? 54

Learning to be professional 56

Subjective and shared experience of dequalification 68

References 71

© The authors and Studentlitteratur
TWO 75
Neglected Opportunities for Personal Development: Care Work in a Perspective of Lifelong Learning.

Helle Krogh Hansen

Learning processes in care work 78
The tensions of care work in a pedagogical perspective 83
Lifelong exemplary learning 87
Conclusion 92
References 94

THREE 97
A Crisis of Recognition in Care Work for Elderly People?
Looking at Professional, Bodily and Gendered Hierarchies for Explanations

Anne Liveng

Care work for elderly people as low ranked in three hierarchies 100
Social and health care helper work as inscribed in a professional hierarchy 101
Care work for elderly people in a 'dirt' hierarchy: working with decaying and dying bodies 105
Care work for elderly in a gender hierarchy: devaluation of the care orientation 110
Conclusion 113
References 116

PART II FINLAND

INTRODUCTION TO PART II 121
Care Work in the Context of a Transforming Welfare State

Lea Henriksson and Sirpa Wrede

The neoliberal turn in Finland 122
Tension in workplaces: professionals and care recipients 125
References 128

FOUR 131
The Making of Medico-Managerial Care Work Culture in Public Home Care for the Elderly

Lea Henriksson and Sirpa Wrede

The rise of socially defined care: from home help to home care 134
Neoliberal policies boosting the medical culture in elderly home care 136
The rise of the medico-managerial culture 141

© The authors and Studentlitteratur
Impoverishment of care work culture in elderly home care 146
References 150

FIVE 153
Staffing Levels and Well-being of the Residents with Dementia
Päivi Topo and Saila Sormunen
Elderly care policy and institutional conditions of care provision in Finland 156
Research design 158
The care units and the residents 160
Well-being, behaviour and activities of the residents 163
Conclusion 170
References 174

SIX 177
Practical Nurses' Work Role and Workplace Ethos in an Era of Austerity
Laura Tainio and Sirpa Wrede
The dynamics of vagueness 180
Organisation-centred or patient-centred care? 187
Conclusion 193
References 197

SEVEN 199
Immigrant Nurses in Finland: Political Negotiations on Occupational Membership
Suvi Nieminen and Lea Henriksson
The perspective of migrant care workers in European welfare states 202
Political agencies: regulating the entry to the occupational fields 205
Choosing from the margins: are immigrant nurses needed? 209
Categories of the respectable nurses 211
Conclusion 214
References to the data 216
References 217

PART III NORWAY

INTRODUCTION TO PART III 221
Care Work and Care Work Education in Norway: Problems of Modernisation
Håkon Høst
The Norwegian contributions 224
References 226
Reforming Auxiliary Nurse Education in Norway—A Story of Failed Modernisation

Håkon Høst

Theoretical framework 228
Care and nursing during restricted, liberal modernity 230
Auxiliary nurse education: a child of organised modernity 231
The second stage of organised modernity 235
Adult reform between organised and liberal modernity 238
A cross-national comparison 240
Denmark: modernisation and autonomy 241
Conclusion 244
References 247

Social Capital in Public Home Care Services (1)

Karen Christensen

Social capital, power and gender 251
Modernisation of public home based care services 254
The unheard voices of the care sector 262
Listening to the voices of social capital 265
Legislation 269
References 269

PART IV SWEDEN

INTRODUCTION TO PART IV 275

Focus on Knowledge Formation and Care Work Organisation

Stina Johansson

The public image of care work 278
Tensions in the work place arena 279
References 281

Academic Strength and Boundary Work: Contextualising Elderly Care

Stina Johansson

Academic strength and boundary work 285
Care work and the link to the organisation of knowledge 287
Sector/administrative boundaries 288
Three borderlines to negotiate 289
Academic strength. System of professions 292
Boundaries of knowledge/academic disciplines 294
Professional structure in relation to intellectual jurisdictions 296
Two contradictory strategies 298
Conclusion 299
References 301

ELEVEN 303
To Organise for Care Work—Work Environment and Relational Aspects of Care Work in Sweden

Petra Ahnlund

The working environment: some definitions 305
Care work: a relational job 307
Methodological considerations and ideal types 308
Ideal types: the care recipient controlled, the organisational abandoned and the environmentally supported 311
Conclusion 318
References 321

TWELVE 323
Upper Secondary Health Care Programme as Means or Measure?
On the Problem of Legitimacy and the View of Knowledge

Petra Ahnlund and Stina Johansson

Training as a professionalisation strategy 326
Quality assurance via training? 328
The administrative structure 329
The material: nursing assistants and auxiliary nurses 331
Middle managers in elderly care—formal training versus personal suitability 332
Personnel in direct care work in the elderly care sector 334
Conclusion 336
References 339

THIRTEEN 341
The Neglect of Time as an Aspect of Organising Care Work

Katarina Andersson

Public elderly care in transformation 343
Care beyond time and space 346
Time and routines 348
Is care work still a question of personal chemistry and a given time space? 355
The consequences of the neglect of time 358
References 360
EPILOGUE 363
The Unheard Voices of Care Workers and Care Researchers

Kari Wæarness

The 1950s and the 1960s: homemaking as a new ideology in public care for the elderly 364
The 1970s and the 1980s: increasing bureaucratisation, standardisation, professionalisation and institutionalisation of the home care services 367
The 1990s and beyond: the pace of organisational changes increases and 'new public management' is introduced 371

References 374