FAROESE
A Language Course for Beginners

TEXTBOOK AND GRAMMAR

by

Jonathan Adams and Hjalmar P. Petersen
Contents

Introduction

About this book – The authors – Acknowledgements – The Faroese language: Language, literature and history; The language situation today; Faroese and English – How to use this course: Textbook; Grammar; The CD recording

Abbreviations

CD Contents

1 Vælkomin til Føroya!
Welcome to the Faroe Islands!
The Faroese alphabet – Gender – Greetings – Articles – Personal pronouns (nominative) – Present tense verbs (first person singular) – Asking someone’s name – Word order: statements and questions – Question words – Words for countries, nationalities and languages – The verb vera ‘to be’ in present tense – The infinitive – Words for marital status – Vowel length – The pronunciation of the letters a and æ

2 Hvussu hevur tú tað?
How are you?
Numbers – How to ask somebody’s age – Providing personal details – The plural of nouns – The definite article in the plural – Asking how somebody is – Weak and strong verbs – Present tense: group 1 verbs – Negation – The verb at plaga – Days of the week, months, seasons and time phrases – The letters í and ý

3 Nýggir vinir í Havn
New friends in Tórshavn
Making an arrangement – Accepting, declining – The direct object (accusative) – Possessive pronouns – The possessive construction with hjá – Discussing family, work and religion – Adjectives (nominative and accusative forms) – The present tense: group 2 verbs – The letters í and ý

4 Kann eg fáa matseðilin?
May I have the menu?
The interrogative pronoun: hvør – Present tense: groups 3–4 verbs – Telling the time – How to order and ask for things – Discussing food and places to eat – How to pay a compliment and make a complaint – Numbers from 100 – The letters á, o and ó
5 Hvussu sleppi eg til bankan?
How do I get to the bank?
How to ask for directions – How to give directions – Present tense: strong and irregular verbs – The indirect object (dative) – The genitive case – Possessive constructions: summary – The letters e and ø

6 Eg skal veksla eitt sindur av pengum
I want to change some money
The verbs: eiga, kunna, mega, munna, skula and vilja – The comparative form of adjectives – The superlative form of adjectives – Compound nouns – Expressing weight, volume and length – The bank, the post office, and the customs and tax authorities – Currency – Colours – The letters u and ú

7 Tú mást taka regnfrakka við táer
You’ll have to bring a raincoat

8 Hvat ber til at gera um kvóldið?
What’s there to do in the evening?
Demonstratives – Preterite tense – Joining sentences with conjunctions – Verbs with accusative and dative subjects – Saying what you like, dislike and prefer – Going out and ordering tickets – The letter r

9 Hvussu nógv kostar tað?
How much is it?
Prepositions that take the accusative – Uses of tað – Shopping – Amounts, prices and fractions – Clothes – The names of shops and groceries – The letters d and ð

10 Hvat feilar?
What’s wrong?
Prepositions that take the dative case – Joining sentences with relative pronouns – How to say something hurts and talking about illness – Parts of the body – Intensifiers – Using the phone and email – The letter combinations dj, sj, skj, stj and tj

11 Bara tú hevur minst til at taka dósaopnaran við!
As long as you’ve remembered to bring the can-opener!
Prepositions that take the accusative and genitive cases – The past participle and the supine – The present perfect – Birdlife – Indefinite and negative pronouns – Apologising – Places to stay – The letter g
12 Mál!
Goal!

Prepositions that take the accusative and the dative case – The past perfect – Saying you are good or bad at something – Some adverbs indicating position and movement to and from – Hobbies – Sports – The letter k

13 Hann er rættiligr tjóðskaparmaður
He’s a real nationalist

The passive voice – Expressing surprise – The verbs: teinkja, hugsa, halda, meina and ætla – Irregular nouns – Faroese history – The letter combinations sj, sk and skj

14 Er nakar studentavsláttur?
Is there a student discount?

Vowel mutation – The imperative mood and how to say ‘let’s do this’ – Indirect speech – The reciprocal pronoun ‘each other’ – Means of transport and buying a travel ticket – Describing people – The letter combinations ll and nn and the letter s

15 Aftur heim til Skotlands?
Back home to Scotland?

The present participle (the -ing form) – Expressing wishes – The subjunctive (optative mood) – Writing letters – The letter combinations kk, kkj, pp and tt

Audio-scripts

Answers to the exercises

16. GRAMMAR SECTION

Content
Abbreviations
The grammar of Faroese: An overview

1. Gender
2. Articles
3. Nouns
4. Adjectives
5. Numerals
6. Pronouns
7. Verbs 490
8. Prepositions 549
9. Adverbs 578
10. Conjunctions 590
11. Syntax 597
12. Compounds and derivations 627
13. Interjections 633
14. Pronunciation 635
15. Punctuation 678
16. Orthography 680
Glossary of grammatical terms 682
Suggested further reading and study 690

17. Faroese-English glossary 701