Contents

Acknowledgments ix

List of Contributors xi

Introduction. Cinema, Ecology, Modernity 1
Sheldon H. Lu

Part I. Hydro-Politics: Water, River, and National Trauma 15

1. Framing Ambient Unheimlich: Ecoggedon, Ecological Unconscious, and Water Pathology in New Chinese Cinema 17
Jiayan Mi

2. Gorgeous Three Gorges at Last Sight: Cinematic Remembrance and the Dialectic of Modernization 39
Sheldon H. Lu

Nick Kaldis

4. Floating Consciousness: The Cinematic Confluence of Ecological Aesthetics in Suzhou River 73
Andrew Hageman
vi  Contents

Part II.  Eco-Aesthetics, Heteroscape, and Manufactured Landscape 93 14. “Recollection”, 95 Donghua Ten
5. The Idea-Image: Conceptualizing Landscape in Recent Martial Arts 113 Notes
Movies  Jerome Silbergeld
Zhangke’s The World 113 Bibliography
Hongbing Zhang
7. Ruins and Grassroots: Jia Zhangke’s Cinematic Discontents in the 129 Index
Age of Globalization 129
Hongbing Zhang

Part III. Urban Space in Production and Disappearance 155
West of the Tracks and Blind Shaft 157
Ban Wang
9. Toward a Hong Kong Ecocinema: The Dis-appearance of “Nature” 171 in Three Films by Fruit Chan 171
Chris Tong
10. A City of Disappearance: Trauma, Displacement, and Spectral 195
Cityscape in Contemporary Chinese Cinema 195
Jing Nie

Part IV. Bioethics, Non-Anthropocentrism, and Green Sovereignty 215
11. In the Face of Developmental Ruins: Place Attachment and Its 217
Ethical Claims 217
Xinmin Liu
Xiaoping Lin
Taiwanese Ecofeminist Imagination 255
Chia-ju Chang