Spiritus Loci

A Theological Method for Contemporary Church Architecture

By

Bert Daelemans, S.J.

Foreword by

Professor David Brown

Afterword by

Dom Frédéric Debuyst, O.S.B.
Contents

Foreword

Prof. David Brown XI

Acknowledgements XIII

List of Illustrations XIV

Abbreviations XVIII

The Spirit of the Place 1

Limits that Create Space 3

Theology... or Architecture? 5

Mystagogic Space 8

PART 1

Foundations

1 Theotopy

Architecture and Theology 15

What? Limits that Create Space 15

Biblical Foundations. Tent, Temple, Ecclesia 19

Patristic Foundations. Mystagogic Space 27

Ignatian Foundations. Compositio loci 33

Why? The Intertwining of Theology and Architecture 37

Spatial Turn. A Theology of Prepositions and Conjunctions 39

Theological Turn. Possibility of a Theology of Architecture 41

Aesthetic Turn. Architecture and Theological Aesthetics 44

How? The Itinerary in Deum from Place To Spirit 59

In Search of Lost Space. A Space Odyssey 59

In Search of A Method. Synaesthetic, Kerygmatic, Eucharistic 69

In Search Of Classics. Chapels, Cathedrals, and Churches 72

2 Fifty Shades Of Gray

Status Quaestionis 87

20th-Century Domus Ecclesiae: Architecture of Immanence 89

Naked before God 92

Christian Genius Loci 95

Non-Church 98

Case Studies: Three Precursors of the Fifties 100

The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly: Architecture of Transcendence 106
Good: To Look Like a Church 107
Bad: No Place for God 109
Ugly as Sin 113
Case Study: The Jubilee Church, Rome (2003) 114
21st-Century Templum Spiritus: Immanent Transcendence 126
Sacramental Enchantment 130
Kinetic Dynamism 135
Constructing the Ineffable 142
Case Studies: Three Precursors of the Eighties 147
What is Needed Today: Mystagogic Space 155

PART 2
Mystagogic Space

3 Synaesthetic Space: Space and Light
   Approaching a Church – Approaching the Mystery 161
   Perceiving Limits that Create Space 162
   Space. Chapel of Reconciliation, Berlin (2000) 165
   Light. Chapel of St Ignatius, Seattle (1997) 174
Body Scan? Architecture and Phenomenology 184
   Space. Saturated Atmosphere 185
   Light. Expressed World 192
   Spiritus Loci as Expansion for the Body: Space and Light 200

4 Kerygmatic Space: Word and Image
   Entering a Church – Entering the Mystery 203
   Interpreting Symbols that Mediate Meaning 203
   Word. Cathedral of Christ the Light, Oakland (2008) 213
Da Vinci Code? Architecture and Hermeneutics 230
   Word. Symbolic Play 230
   Image. Sacred Emptiness 237
   Spiritus Loci as Expression for the Mind: Word and Image 244

5 Eucharistic Space: Dance and Garden
   Appropriating a Church – Appropriating the Mystery 251
   Celebrating Mysteries that Embody Hope 251
   Dance. St Gregory of Nyssa Episcopal Church, San Francisco (1995) 255
   Garden. Church of St François de Molitor, Paris (2005) 266
Versus Orientem? Architecture and Eschatology 276
Dance. Body-Building 278
Garden. Oriented Communion 300
Spiritus Loci as Expectation for the Community: Dance and Garden 309

The Place of the Spirit 315

Afterword 320

Theses 323
Glossary 325
Index of Church Buildings: (1915–2015) 331
Illustrious Precursors (1895–1995) 332
Roman Catholic 337
Protestant 339
Episcopalian 340
Ecumenical 340
A Practical Guide to Twenty Contemporary Churches 341

Selected Bibliography 357
Person Index 383
Building Index 389
Subject Index 392