Sustainable Energy Transformations, Power, and Politics
Morocco and the Mediterranean

Sharlissa Moore
Contents

List of figures .......................... x
List of tables .......................... xi
Acknowledgments ......................... xii
List of abbreviations .................... xiv

PART I
Large-scale energy system transformations

1 Introduction: visions for sustainable energy transformations .......................... 3
2 The history of concentrating solar power and large-scale engineering projects for the Mediterranean Region ................. 31
3 The critical geopolitics of renewable energy and spatial energy justice: envisioning the Mediterranean, perceiving Desertec ............ 64
4 The life cycle of a vision: Desertec system designs ....................................... 94

PART II
Nation-state visions for just and socially sustainable energy development

5 The social pillar of sustainable development in Morocco’s solar imaginary .................. 137
6 Neocolonial or not? Evaluating North-South-South partnership on electricity integration .................. 180
7 Socially sustainable solar power development: from national dreams to local outcomes .................. 203
8 Conclusion: energy justice and security in visions of multi-scalar systems .................. 229

Index ........................................... 250